Icy Bridge Claims New Traffic Victim

The bridge in Lake Villa on Rte. 83 has been the scene of many accidents, especially when it ices over.

When the car being driven by Wendy Le Prich, 37, of Fox Lake went out of control while heading north on the icy pavement of the bridge at 8:22 a.m. on Nov. 21, it struck a car driven by Judith Abano, 43, of Antioch and then damaged the guardrail on the opposite side of the bridge.

Le Prich was taken to Condell Memorial Hospital in McHenry by the Lake Villa Rescue Squad for treatment of bruises and abrasions.

District 34 Fares Well In Report Card

Antioch Community Consolidated School Dist. 34 released its annual report cards, and the figures compared favorably to state-wide averages.

Dist. 34 is composed of four schools, including Antioch Upper Middle School, Oakland Grade School, Antioch Elementary School, and W. C. Petty Elementary School.

Dist. 34 Supt. Donald Skidmore released an insert with the report cards in an effort to explain the rather large array of numbers and percentages contained in the reports. In this insert, Skidmore explained and interpreted the various data concerning Dist. 34.

The district average for students from low income families is 8.8 percent. This average is about one-third of the state average, but Skidmore said, "nevertheless, the 8.8 percent represents a significant population to serve and educate."

The percentage of students enrolled in self-contained special education classes in Dist. 34 is 5.1, higher than the state average of 3.5. W.C. Petty School houses all of the elementary students in self-contained programs, which is why Oakland and Antioch Lower Grade have zero percentages in this category.

The reason why Dist. 34 has more special education students than the state average can be attributed to a number of factors. Skidmore said, "one possible reason is the fact the district has a good reputation for providing special education services to those students needing them."

Dist. 34 attendance rates are very good. At 95.5 percent, they are almost two percentage points above the state average.

All Dist. 34 schools demonstrate a high rate of students entering and leaving the schools during the school year. "The in and out movement of students can and does cause instruction problems," commented Skidmore.

W.C. Petty and Antioch Upper Grade Schools have student mobility averages above the district and state level, and the district as a whole is above the state average.

The percentage of students not promoted to the next grade is 3.1 for Dist. 34, well below the state average of 5.1. Skidmore said, "due to the fact that our students exceed national norms for achievement, we can reasonably expect the district failure rate to be lower."

Student achievement test scores for Dist. 34 place them above state averages. Over one-third of Dist. 34 students placed in the 76-99 percentile range, with fewer than one out of 10 placing at the bottom of the range.

Financial information in the report cards was gathered during the 1984-85 school year. On the surface, it appears that Dist. 34 spends more money on transportation and construction and less on the education fund than the average state school.

Skidmore added, however, that the transportation fund reflects the money required to maintain and operate the buses and that expenses for the heating plant at Antioch Upper Grade cut into construction funds.

He said, "if the excess costs in these two areas are subtracted out of the total expenditures, you will discover we spend about 75 percent of our funds in the education fund."

At $21,369, the average salary for a Dist. 34 teacher is almost $6,000 below the state average. "Our staff is relatively young, and only 13 of 82 teachers have advanced college degrees. Consequently, the average salary reported for the district would be expected to be less than the state average. As our staff matures and more gain graduate degrees, the difference will diminish."

Antioch Man Dies In Holiday Crash

Three accidents that happened in the western part of Kenosha County over the holiday weekend left two people dead, one an Antioch resident, and three people injured.

Early Friday morning, Kenosha County Sheriff's Dep. Hugh Sherron came across the scene of a one car accident that had occurred on Hwy. C, just west of Hwy. MB in Bristol.

Found dead in the car was James Johnson, 57, Antioch. According to the sheriff's report, Johnson's car had been westbound on Hwy. C when it went out of control on the icy pavement, left the road, traveled 57 feet until it hit an embankment and then traveled another 102 feet where it hit a tree.

Johnson suffered terminal massive head injuries.

A short time later, at 7 a.m., also on Hwy. C, Deanna Gomez, 24, Trevor, had an accident while driving east. She also lost control of her car because of the frost on the highway, and hit a utility pole.

She and her four-year-old son, Luis, were treated at Kenosha Memorial Hospital. She was cited for driving too fast for conditions.

Another fatal accident at 8 p.m. on Sunday, took the life of Thomas Nichols, 45, Rte. 5, Burlington.

According to the accident report, Nichols was driving north of Hwy. W, south of the Kenosha County Park, when his Datsun crossed the center line and struck a 1973 Chevy Impala, driven by Steve Melsndez, 19, of Silver Lake in a head-on collision.

Nichols was taken to Westosha Emergency Center, Silver Lake, where he was pronounced dead of massive head injuries and Melsndez is reported to be in stable condition at Burlington Memorial Hospital where he was taken with chest and internal injuries by the Silver Lake Rescue Squad.

Safety Is Concern In Local Food, Bake Sales

Many groups have found that pre-holiday bazaars and bake sales are a good way to make money for worthy activities. These sales often take months of planning by dedicated volunteers. Unfortunately, food safety is an issue that many chairpersons take for granted.

Sponsoring organizations have a serious obligation, both legal and moral, to ensure the safety of the food they sell, according to Lake County Extension Adviser Irene Green.

"While state law dictates that home-prepared food shall not be offered for public sale, local officials usually don't enforce the rules against churches or local organizations that sponsor once-a-year events. But if an activity becomes a monthly or weekly event, or health officials hear complaints, the rules will be enforced," Green said.

One way groups can avoid creating legal problems is to be scrupulous about safety, sanitation and consumer concerns.

"Some homemade foods just don't belong in bazaars or bake sales. Home-canned vegetables and meats require extensive processing, and homemakers may not be using current processing recommendations. Jams, jellies, sweet preserves and pickles are a safer bet, but chairpersons should still be sure that these items come from cooks who know what they're doing. Food poisoning is a very real threat if home-canned foods are not processed in exactly the right way."

Food-poisoning is also a threat with certain kinds of baked goods. "Custard pumpkin and meringue pies should not be sold unless they will be eaten on the spot, and you have facilities to refrigerate them until the moment they're bought. The same goes for custard-filled items," Green said. "You can't control how they'd be handled later, but you could be sued. Cakes, cookies, breads and non-perishable pies are much less risky."

Homemade mincemeat is another item to avoid. "People love it, and they'll probably miss it, but the risk is just too great. While you want your fundraiser to be a success, you don't want to risk selling mincemeat that might be underprocessed."

Green says each food item should be labeled with the name and address of the person who made it. "Ninety-nine percent of the time, there won't be any problems. But if problems do develop, public health personnel need to be able to track down the cause to avoid more illnesses."

Consumers also appreciate ingredient labels on homemade foods. "Ingredient labels are very helpful for people who have allergies. And they help assure consumers that only the finest, most wholesome ingredients went into the product," Green said.

Foods should be adequately covered or protected from dust and contamination. "Volunteers should use plastic gloves, tongs or clean tissue paper when handling food. Food and money should be handled by different people. Those who handle the food should wash their hands often, using prepackaged towelettes if there's no sink available."

It's unfortunate, but most bazaars take place during the height of the cold and flu season. "Again, organizers have a solemn obligation to keep their sale items as germ-free as possible. People who are sick should not be baking or handling foods intended for public sale," Green said. "Chairpersons need to recognize this fact, even if it means doing without several of their best workers. If sick people insist on working at the sale, ask them to sell potholders or raffle tickets...anything but food!"

Folkfest Coming To Gurnee On Saturday, Dec. 6

Storyteller Tom Clark of Kenosha says he's looking forward to joining fellow storyteller Beth Horner of Evanston and folk musicians Jenny and Becky Armstrong of Highland Park at the 1-4 p.m. afternoon concert of Fall Folkfest '86 Saturday, Dec. 6 at Viking Park's Dance Hall, 4374 Grand Ave., Gurnee.

The Folkfest had to be rescheduled when the Sept. 27 date was flooded out, and Clark will replace Andrew Leslie, who was unavailable for the new date.

"Beth is one of my favorite storytellers and she did a wonderful workshop at my school last year," Clark said. "I'm really pleased to be performing on the same program with her."

The free concert is designed for families with children of six years and up, according to Joy Botts, adult services librarian at the Warren-Newport Public Library in Gurnee.

Botts is coordinating the all-day event with Claudia Freeman, recreation supervisor for the Gurnee Park Dist. The library and park district are co-sponsors of the Folkfest.

"Last year we had lots of families at the concert, but we also had a large number of adults by themselves, including quite a few senior citizens," Botts said. "However, really small children can't appreciate the stories, and it's definitely not an event at which to leave unattended children," she added. "In addition, we'll be inside this year because of the weather, which will make for a more formal setting than being outside as originally scheduled."

Two workshops for adults will precede the afternoon concert. "Fun with Music" will be led by the Armstrongs from 9 to 10:15 a.m., and "Where to Start with Storytelling" with Beth Horner will run from 10:45 a.m. to noon.

There is a $2 fee per workshop to cover the cost of handouts. Registration in advance is being handled by the Gurnee Park Dist. office; any openings that day will be first-come, first-served. Call (312) 623-7788 for registration information.

Clark is a kindergarten teacher in Zion who started using storytelling in his classroom several years ago in an attempt to improve his students' listening skills. He says he soon found that not only were they listening, but they were also enjoying themselves, and so was he.

Clark has performed as a storyteller in northern Illinois and throughout Wisconsin, including presentations at the Illinois State Kindergarten Conference, the Milwaukee County Zoo, and the Door County Folk Festival.

He is a founding member of TALES (Tri-County Area Liars, Elaborators and Storytellers), a storytelling group in Southeast Wisconsin.

Horner has presented over 300 performances and workshops for libraries, schools, hospitals, and museums, and has appeared at several storytelling festivals such as the Illinois Storytelling Festival at Spring Grove, where she was a featured performer in 1984. She is becoming known throughout the U.S. for her storytelling ability.

Becky and Jenny Armstrong also have extensive performance and workshop experience. They were featured as folk musicians and dancers at last year's Folkfest and appeared at the Spring Grove festival in 1985.

They plan several folk instruments between them, including fiddle, guitar, dulcimer and banjo. They have teamed up on a series of storytelling and music programs called "Song-Spun Stories," which is popular in schools.

"We had several hundred people throughout the afternoon last year," Botts said, "and we're anticipating that the new date will still bring out a good crowd. It'll be a relaxing and fun way to end the fall season before getting into the swing of the holidays at the end of the year."

In Melodrama

Sec. 4 William Sheppard and Tony Morris, left, standing, and Sherrie Boggio and Sgt. First Class Ken Van Dine are featured in the Fort Sheridan Players' one act melodrama 'He Done Her Wrong' scheduled for Dec. 5 at 8 p.m. and Dec. 6 and 7, at 2:30 p.m., in the Fort Sheridan Corners Recreation Center. Admission is free.

Teenage Scouts To Go Shopping

Teen-Age Girl Scouts (TAGS) who are part of a pilot program for teenage girls in the Mundelein area, are going on a "Shopping Extravaganza" to the discount malls in Kenosha on Dec. 6.

Starting at 9 a.m., the teenage Girl Scouts will have a marathon day of shopping, walking, lunch and more shopping. Adult advisers to the group suggests: "Wear comfortable shoes!"

The Shopping Extravaganza is the third event for the newly-organized TAGS. A kick-off picnic supper in August introduced the idea to girls in the community, followed by a Halloween Spook Night and Pizza Party.

TAGS is for all girls in the area, both those who have been in scouting and other teen girls who enjoy meeting informally once a month for fun activities.

The program was set up to provide a relaxed, pressure-free environment for girls between seventh and 12th grades.

Anyone wanting to join the shopping spree or learn more about TAGS can call Ruth Bieber at (312) 949-0613.

Comedy Comes To Ft. Sheridan Stage

A full evening of rollicking comedy is promised for those attending the free performances of two one-act comedy melodramas by the Fort Sheridan Players Dec. 5-7 at the post recreation center, Bldg. 419.

"He Ain't Done Right by Nell," will be performed by children of post military staff, ages 12 through 16, followed by "He Done Her Wrong," by a company of adult players from the post and nearby community.

Performance times for the weekend are 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 5, and 2:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 6 and 7.

"He Ain't Done Right by Nell" is directed by Lake Forest resident, Tony Morris, a seasoned performer in drama and dance, and an accounting supervisor at the Post Exchange store.

The performers include Robert Johnston, 15, of Mundelein and Leilani Stevenson, 12, of Gurnee; as well as Jenny Whitfield, 13, Frank McAllister, 13, Heidi Hetue, 16, and Rasee Haskell, 12, of Fort Sheridan.

The adult thriller, "He Done Her Wrong," is directed by Spec. 4 Matt Breuhler, and features Tony Morris of Lake Forest, Sgt. Paulette Daniel of Waukegan, Sgt. 1st Class Ken Van Dine, and Spec. 4 William Shepard of Fort Sheridan, Sherrie Boggio of Fort Sheridan and Debbie Becher of Mundelein.

Both productions are under the supervision of Frank Conway, director of music and theater with the Fort Sheridan Office of Community Recreation.

Chorus Plans Christmas Concert

The Waukegan Symphony Chorus and Chamber Singers will present their annual Christmas Concert on Saturday, Dec. 13, at 8 p.m., at the Genesee Theatre, 205 N. Genesee St., Waukegan.

They will be joined in a joyous celebration of the season by members of the Lake Forest Symphony Chorus and by guest artists, The Pitzen Brass Ensemble.

Work spanning five centuries will be performed with antiphonal choruses and brass choirs. WSC will also reprise two works performed recently at the invitation of the American Choral Directors Assn. for their state conference.

The magnificent sound of The Pitzen Brass Ensemble will be showcased in John Rutter's "Gloria," a concert work composed in 1974 for mixed voices, brass, percussion and organ. Madrigals and an "off beat" arrangement of "Deck the Halls" will be performed by the WSC Chamber Singers.

"At this busiest time of the year, a favorite event is the combined chorus and audience carol sing-along, accompanied by the splendor of brass, percussion and the Genesee Theatre organ which will round out the evening.

WSC's Annual Christmas Concert traditionally provides "something for everyone"—from the splendor of the Renaissance masters to the warmth of popular seasonal favorites.

"Doing serious music," explains Director Don Horisberger, "involves exposing both chorus and community to music of the 15th through the 20th centuries. The level of community interest, and its willingness to support the cultural arts are good indicators of the vitality of that community."

Tickets are available in advance and at the door: adults, $7; seniors, students and military, $3; or season tickets. For more information call (312) 244-1660.

Anderson Flips From Writing To Recording

Round Lake resident and former trustee of the Round Lake Area Library, Ruth Nathan Anderson, who writes the popular syndicated column, VIP Medical Grapevine, adapted for tv on Cablenet's Channel 21, has recorded a new mini-album on the American Sound label, proving again that she's a topnotch journalist who can also sing.

The four-song 45-rpm extended play record leads with "I like Chicagoland," a special lyric written by Anderson to the music of Burton Lane's "How About You&," originally composed for the 1941 MGM musical, "Babes on Broadway," starring Judy Garland.

Anderson's warm and witty love song to Chicago is handled with sly and nostalgic affection and is just catchy enough to become a hit not only in the Windy City but elsewhere around the country.

On the flip side is a soulful love ballad, "There Will Never Be Another You," written in 1942 by Mack Gordon and Harry Warren for another Hollywood musical, "Iceland," produced by Twentieth Century Fox.

Aiding Anderson's interpretation is the haunting sound of the great Bobby Seymour on steel guitar.

Side two gives Anderson's vocal perception of a naively man-hungry woman who's just met her real live man. "A Real Live Man (girl)" was written by Carolyn Leigh and Cy Coleman for the 1962 Broadway stage musical, "Little Me."

The final song is the sexy saloon standard, "Scotch and Soda," written in 1959 by Dave Guard of the Kingston Trio. Anderson's rendition carries the mood of this cool hot pop.

If your club or organization is planning a special event that lends itself to photo coverage, call the Lakeland Newspaper editorial dept. at (312) 223-8161 to arrange a photographer.

Pianist Bunky Keels handled the musical arrangements for the five-piece Jack Logan Nashville Studio Band that backs up Anderson.

In this new mini-album, aptly titled, "Hip Standards With The Nashville Touch," Anderson remains faithful to the sterling standards she likes and delivers best.

"Hip Standards With The Nashville Touch" is being sold by the Round Lake Music Center at 246 N. Cedar Lake Rd. Orders may be reserved by calling Linda or Concho Martinez at (312) 546-3322.

Anderson resides in Cambridge Courts with her husband, Arthur A. Anderson, Jr. They have three married children. For more than nine years, Anderson served as a vice-president/trustee of the Round Lake Area Library Board, resigning last spring because of a burdened two-career schedule.

Give Profit Back To Sponsors

The Kirk Players, the Mundelein based "Community Stock Company," has donated over $3,500 to four nonprofit, service oriented organizations. Jesse Becker, the Kirk Players financial director, announced that the net profits from the community theatre group's 1985-86 Subscription Series presentations of "Barefoot In The Park," "Hide And Seek," "Don't Tell Mother," and "And Then I Wrote," amounted to $3,660.10.

Becker also announced that the entire amount had been donated to the four preselected "sponsors" who had helped the Players promote the shows and sell tickets. Maintaining their established policy, the amount of the donations was based on the individual profits from the particular show that each organization promoted.

The largest donation, Kirk Players

The Kirk Players Community Theatre announces the premier of Neil Simon's "The Odd Couple (Female Version)" in their second show of their 21st season 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday, Dec. 5 and 6. Tickets are $4 for adults, $2 for students and $1 for senior citizens and children under 12. All proceeds will benefit Omni Youth Services - Greenhouse Program to help meet the needs of youth in the community. For advance tickets, call Omni Youth Services - Greenhouse, (312)949-1020.

Buoys And Belles Square Dance

Buoys and Belles Square Dance Club will host its Mistletoe Ball on Friday, Dec. 5, at the Great Lakes Community Center, Greenbay Rd. and Hwy. 137, Great Lakes. A rounds workshop will be held at 8 p.m., and square dance from 8:30 to 11 p.m. All modern western square dancers in the area are invited, and refreshments will be served.

$1,603.88 went to the Greenhouse Program of Omni Youth Services, sponsors of "Hide And Seek." The money will help fund their various programs and services for the young people in the Fremont and Libertyville Twp. areas.

This was the fourth consecutive year that the Greenhouse people have sponsored a Kirk benefit. They are also sponsors of the Players' next production, "The Odd Couple" (female version), which plays on Dec. 5 and 6 at Mundelein High School.

The second largest amount of donated profits came from the season opener, "Barefoot In The Park." The Waukegan Area Arts Council, which is sponsoring their first Kirk show, has received $1,134.19 in donations. The group will use the money to help fund its reglating program.

Hotai Pup Tent No. 67 of the Military Order of the Cootie, the "Honor Degree" of the VFW, who sponsored the season finale, "And Then I Wrote," received the third highest donation. The $629.14 donated to them will help fund their continuous efforts to "keep 'em smiling in beds of white" and "to keep alive the spirit of optimism and humor so characteristic of the American service man."

The final donation of $292.89 went to the Parents Club of Dist. 75 who sponsored "Don't Tell Mother."

Founder-Director John W. Lynn, said that the $3,660 was a new high, significantly topping the $3,063 donated from the 1983-84 season. He also indicated that this year's donations brought the total Kirk Player donations to over $45,000.

Lynn said, "we tried for a Super 20th Season, and we did it! Obviously we're all pleased that we were able to make a buck or two for worthwhile organizations and at the same time provide our community with good, reasonably priced, live theatre and give our little band of Players an opportunity to participate in a wonderful activity."

Although fanatical dedication and hard work on the part of the Players is important, we'd never have the opportunity to use that without the generous support of the local business and professional people of our community. They deserve a great deal of credit and gratitude."

Caroling Time

This lively group, dressed in Victorian attire, will be singing Christmas carols at Hawthorn Center, Mondays through Saturdays, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. and Sundays, from 1 to 4 p.m., from Dec. 14 to 23. From left are, Ken Smouse, Antioch, Cynthia Flannigan, Lindenhurst, Roz Trusky, Winthrop Harbor and Peter Thelen, Antioch. Also singing, but not pictured are, Genie Godula and Irene Neimanis.

Set Bell Ringing

Here is a unique musical treat. On Saturday, Dec. 13, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. in the Sears Court, listen to the melodic sounds of the Libertyville Presbyterian Church Handbell Choir under the direction of Paul McKenzie.

Each bell ringer holds different size bells, which in turn produce varying musical tones, as they ring in holiday cheer. This musical concert will run continuously from 4 to 7 p.m. and will delight the whole family.

Hawthorn Center is located at Milwaukee Ave. (Rte. 21) and Town Line Rd. (Rte. 60) in the Village of Vernon Hills just south of Libertyville.

by JOHN STEINKE
(Political Columnist)

U.S. Senator Alan J. Dixon, an enormously popular Democrat, was reelected to his second term in the Nov. 4 election. Dixon was the only statewide Democratic candidate to carry Lake County in the fall contest. He garnered 54,609 votes while Republican nominee, Judy Koehler, received 43,598. Dixon secured 55.6% of Lake County's two-party vote.

Alan Dixon captured 13 out of the area's 18 townships. He carried Wauconda Twp. by 9 votes, Lake Villa Twp. by 30 and Libertyville Twp. by 32 ballots. Dixon also won in traditional Republican townships like Shields, Vernon and West Deerfield. His biggest pluralities were recorded in the Democratic areas of Waukegan (68.7%) and Deerfield (74.5%) Twps.

Here are Dixon's percentages of the two-party vote in Lake County's 18 townships:

CLC Plans To Lose Two Tons

A number of College of Lake County students and staff members can be accused of "losing it" during the next few months. As part of the college's Fit for Life program, 210 people have pledged to lose 3,898.5 pounds by the end of March, 1987.

The official weigh-in took place the last week in October with the total pledged pounds totaling nearly two tons.

Friendly competition between a number of college groups promises to intensify as the months pass. Ten members of the Student Senate have pledged to lose 122 pounds challenging their eight faculty counterparts on the College Senate, which has set a goal of 118 pounds. The main campus has 192 participants pledging one ton plus 2,359.5 pounds. The Lakeshore Campus has six people pledging lose 225 pounds, while the CLC Naval Training School has 11 pledges with a goal of 314 pounds.

"The Fit for Life Committee is very pleased with the response to our 1986-87 health promotion program," says health services director Jacquelyn Hassett. "Studies show that more healthful, low-fat diets may prevent heart disease and several types of cancer and we want our students and staff to live long, healthy lives."

In addition to this weight loss promotion, CLC staff members can be reimbursed up to $100 one time for the successful completion of an approved weight loss program.

Hardball Is The Game In Chairman Vote

Just Politics

by CHARLES JOHNSTON
Managing Editor

Helen Belmont Amendola gave James LaBelle the crucial thirteenth vote he needed to ensure his reelection as county board chairman on the second ballot. In so doing, she brought about her own demise as LaBelle's supporters ousted her as vice-chairman and elected Andrea Moore to that spot.

It happened on Monday, Dec. 1, as board members gathered for their bi-annual reorganization of the board. It was a day for swift, well-organized hardball politics.

It started slowly as members spent two hours arguing over whether it would require 13 votes to elect a chairman or a simple majority of board members present. Finally, at 11 a.m., the board voted to require 13 votes. It seemed a silly haggling point, as all 24 members were present and none seemed anxious to go anywhere before a chairman was selected. Thus, either way 13 votes would have been required.

On the first ballot, five candidates were nominated. Jim Dolan of Libertyville received nine votes; LaBelle of Zion, four; Norm Geary of Grayslake, three; Rich Anderson of Barrington, three; and John Balen of Waukegan, four. In spite of the large number of candidates, there were actually only three factions: Dolan representing the regular Republicans; LaBelle's core group; and Geary-Anderson-Balen representing the reform Republicans and Democrats. Geary and Anderson had agreed earlier to support each other if one could get enough votes to go over the top.

After the first ballot, members took a 10 minute recess to caucus. The 10 minutes stretched out to almost an hour. By the time the members took their seats again it was nearly 12:30 p.m. Clearly, an agreement between LaBelle and the regular Republicans, led by Bob Neal had been struck. Eight of the nine votes that went to Dolan on the first ballot went to LaBelle this time, giving him a total of 12.

It had been widely reported that Amendola would cast the deciding vote for any faction that could reach 12 votes. She did for LaBelle, putting him over the top. Within minutes, Amendola sat in shock as she realized that part of the deal between LaBelle and Neal involved dumping her as vice-chairman. Later, she said that she got confused during the roll call and thought that LaBelle already had his 13 votes.

"I thought I was casting the fourteenth vote for him," she said.

It appears that the regulars have a solid 12 votes now. The only chink in the armor is Matt Miholic, who voted for Dolan on the first ballot, passed on LaBelle on the second ballot, and voted for Amendola for vice-chairman. Of course, Amendola is now firmly back in the Geary-Anderson-Balen camp.

The regulars should have just barely enough votes to have their way over the next two years. At least four board members among the regular Republicans appear to be vulnerable two years from now. Moore of Libertyville, Jerry Beyer of Waukegan, Fred Popp of Lake Villa, and Jim Fields of Antioch can expect stiff primary challenges.

Moore, with her support of the Heartland settlement, has angered many residents in Libertyville. Dolan has done the same, but he is a much stronger political figure than Moore with superior political instincts.

If the heat gets hot enough, Dolan will figure out a graceful, subtle way to blunt the controversy. Moore also was once considered a member of the reform group, whereas Dolan has always been a regular. She will lose some of her former supporters and will need to gain others to replace them.

Beyer, alone among Dist. 6 board members voted with the regulars. His peers, Bruce Hansen, John Reindl and Rich Anderson let him know that they considered this an issue affecting environmental decisions in the county. They will support a primary opponent to him in two years.

Popp and Fields have long been antagonists of fellow Dist. 4 member Geary. They believe that by winning Grant and Antioch Twps. two years from now, they can overcome any opposition from Geary's faction. That strategy used to work, because though Avon turned out the largest number of votes, Grayslake and the Round Lake area voted in opposition to each other, thus cancelling out Avon's influence. In the last three elections, general and primary, Round Lake and Grayslake have been voting together, making Avon the powerhouse of Dist. 4. Avon, combined with any other township, can choose the winners. Avon and Lake Villa can be expected to work together, meaning big trouble for Fields, though Popp may survive.

If they do their homework and stick together, the reform coalition can elect their own man on the first ballot two years from now.

In the meantime, here's a toast to the political skills of Jim LaBelle. Twice, he has gone in with the weakest hand and twice he has walked away with victory. Both John Steinke and I owe him a cup of coffee.

What are the things dearest to children's hearts this time of year? Presents, presents, presents, and of course, "snow days!" As we parents rush around to fulfill our little darlings' latest wish (guaranteed to change once we've purchased the gift.) Dr. Donald Skidmore, School Dist. 34 Superintendent, can once more look forward to the annual "buck stops here" task of deciding when the weather is too severe to keep school in session. Dr. Skidmore is darn good at this aspect of his job, too. He says, "I've only missed twice—once when the weather suddenly got better (Moms, do you remember? Ha, ha,) and once when winds caused terrible conditions in the outlying parts of the district."

Does Dr. Skidmore make his decision by looking out his bedroom window? (Doesn't he wish?) No, he will be out driving along Antioch's streets long before any of the rest of us even contemplate arising, to see conditions for himself. And before he will make his decision, he will consult township road commissioners, the police department, outlying school personnel, ACHS Superintendent Gary Allen, and the national weather service. All this has to be done before 6:30 a.m. in time to alert local radiostations.

Dr. Skidmore takes it all in stride, however. "I was raised on a farm," he says, "and this is the latest I've ever had to get up in my life."

Speaking of ice and snow, ACHS has a brand new winter activity—an ice hockey club. The team started its 21-game season with a tournament at the Zion Park Dist. Ice Arena on Nov. 28 and Dec. 1 against Cary-Grove at Barrington. Good luck, fellows!

Congratulations to the two Antioch ladies who won fully decorated Hallmark Christmas trees. Tammy Cheverette won the tree at Kings Drugs and Jan Wilke the one at Jackie's Hallmark Shop.

Country Cousins will present a Christmas Craft Fair Dec. 5-7 at Antioch Scout House, 741 Main St. Hours are: Friday, Dec. 5, 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.; Saturday, Dec. 6, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m.;

Sunday, Dec. 7, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. You won't want to miss this one!

Another must to start your Christmas season in the right spirit is the presentation of 'Handels' "Messiah" at 8 p.m. on Friday, Dec. 5, at St. Peter's Church in Antioch. Members of the Waukegan Symphony and local choral members will be featured in this performance underwritten by Persin and Persin Jewelers of Antioch in cooperation with Ken Smouse. Admission is free; tickets may be obtained in advance at the jewelers or at the door.

"Santa's Secret Shop" at Antioch Grade School, sponsored by Antioch PTO, will be open the week of Dec. 8 to enable students to purchase gifts for their families in an unhurried atmosphere. Parents' Night will be from 7 to 8:30 p.m. on Dec. 8. An unlimited supply of stocking stuffers will be available.

If you're in downtown Antioch on Dec. 9 between 7 and 8:30 p.m., you'll be in for a special treat as members of Antioch Upper Grade School Strolling Carolers sing a variety of favorite Christmas tunes.

Also on the go... The wonderful Antioch Upper Grade School Band, under the direction of Mr. Earl Bush, will travel to Regency Mall, Racine, Wis., to play in concert at 1:30 p.m. Make plans now to come up and support this popular Antioch group on Dec. 13.

Another group of Antiochans have banded together to promote ACHS Wrestling in our community. The Antioch Wrestling Parents recently held an open meeting to organize support of the ACHS program. They are in the process of making booster buttons, "ACHS Wrestler On Board" car window signs, and plans for special themes for each home meet. Against Mundelein on Dec. 12 will be "Wear Your Button Night" and the ACHS Pep Band will entertain. Other themes will include "Adopt-A-Wrestler Night," "Alumni Night" and "Parents' Night."

If you've never attended a wrestling meet, one of the Wrestling Parents will be glad to sit with you and talk through the matches, explaining the techniques and scoring. Come out and join them at one of ACHS' premier sports.

A hospitality room with refreshments will be open for parents and fans immediately following each home meet. The 1986 theme, "Journey to the Tourney" sweatshirts can be ordered there. For more information call (312) 395-4099 or (312) 356-5808.

The Time Machine

FIFTY YEARS AGO: December 10, 1936

The Antioch News usually got the scoop, but here's a case where we missed the boat. "Eleanor Sorenson, popular owner of Eleanor's Beauty Shop on Main St., was secretly married to Minos Nixon of Antioch at the home of the Rev. Herbert Chenoweth." Sure, they managed to avoid the prying eyes of strangers, but just think of all the presents Eleanor and Minos gave up by eloping.

"It is a small thing to a man whether or not his neighbor be merciful to him; it is life or death to him whether or not he be merciful to his neighbor." Knowing some of my neighbors, it really can be a life or death situation.

Bothered by your nose pores? In 1936, the Antioch News advertised a method to deal with them. "Your nose pores are the largest on your body, and the first to show any signs of clogging. If your nose pores are enlarged or conspicuous, it's a sign your cleansing method is inefficient." If they're so large, then why are they so hard to keep clean?

TWENTY YEARS AGO: December 1, 1966

"Hundreds of biographies have been written about Abraham Lincoln, one of the country's greatest presidents. It took a five year old to write the shortest: 'He went to a show, got shot, and now he is a statue.' You just can't beat kids and animals for stealing the show.

Here are some of the books that the 1966 English Dept. at ACHS considered releasing: "An American Tragedy," about the cafeteria food. "Age of Innocence" is about the sophomore class, of course. "Great Expectations" could only be about the basketball team. And my favorite, "The Return of the Native," about alumni returning for Homecoming.

Can you imagine: Bill Sheldon with long, wavy hair? Bob Deimer diving for pennies? What about Ralph Zanck not being cool? In 1966, it was a hard thing to do.

TEN YEARS AGO: December 1, 1976

Mencius said, "A great man is he who has not lost the heart of a child." That's a great man. A good man merely misplaces it.

"Napoleon wasn't small about gifts for Josephine. Once he presented her with a tiara blazing with 888 diamonds, probably all of the first water. This means they were especially fine gems, since the color or luster of a diamond is referred to as its 'water.' Now I know why Perrier is so expensive.

Rumors filled the air about Mayor Wilton's announcement that he would not run for mayor again. Most observers felt he would win by a landslide, but he was getting married and moving to Mundelein. As we all know, Mayor Wilton certainly found a suitable replacement. Seems like yesterday, doesn't it?

New Arrival

Niels Kristian Helstrom

A son, Niels Kristian, was born Nov. 18 at Lake Forest Hospital to Marla and Paul Helstrom of Antioch. Grandparents are Joyce and Byron Dyer of Madison, Wis., and Lorraine and Clifford Helstrom of Deming, N.M. Great-grandfather is Clarence Lucas, 83, also of Madison.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

SO, DID EVERYBODY go out to see the parade on Saturday? I was there, and let me tell you, I've never seen anything like it. There were floats, and cars, and everything else you could possibly imagine. Let's keep up the Christmas spirit by visiting Santa's Enchanted Castle on Toft Ave. and shopping in lovely downtown Antioch. I'll see you there!

ASA FAVOR to my dear friend Florence Babusek, I'm going to mention that Bill Naumann, who's involved in that wonderful marionette show, is from Carousel Women's Apparel in Antioch. Sorry Florence, but Annie Mae is usually left to pick up the trailers.

I NEVER SEEM to run out of ideas for holiday hints, do I? Well, this week's hint is a gonna be a lulu. What do you do when the party is finally over this holiday season, and there are those folks that just don't get the hint that it's time to hit the trail? This is what I do. Instead of yawning, or hinting politely like most folks do, I just start gabbing about myself. That's right, I talk about myself until I'm blue in the face. If there's anything people want to hear less of, it's about other people's boring little lives. Give it a try.

ONE OF THE things I like most about Christmas is the way people suddenly drop all of their defenses and become good natured and full of the yuletide spirit. Here's a little incident that happened the other day to prove my point. I was on my way to the Vault for a bite to eat when I passed this fellow I sometimes see on the street. He usually just looks the other way when I walk by, and he never bothers to tip his hat my way. Well guess what! The wind blew off my hat and this chap almost got himself hit by a car to get it back. Then he stopped to chat, and on his way home he said it all: Merry Christmas.

I JUST DON'T KNOW about professional football these days. I always used to think that it was a fun thing that my grandsons do in school, but the TV has shown me that I may be mistaken. What are people to think when supposedly grown men run around and try to hurt each other as much as possible? I think that someone better step in pretty soon, before football goes the way of roller derby and the days of the Roman gladiators.

YOU SHOULD READ that article about cutting down your own Christmas tree by the young fella who writes this newspaper. Some of my fondest childhood memories (when I can remember them) revolve around going to the tree fields and cutting down the most beautiful trees you've ever seen. It's a day well spent, and a memory forever.

THAT WILL WRAP IT UP for this week gentle readers, so let me leave you with this little reminder. Just like the holidays spread cheer, so they also spread people who drink too much and then drive. Please don't make that fatal mistake, and have a safe holiday season.

Mortgage Rates Are Falling To Lowest Level In Decade

by GARY S. MEYERS

Interest rates on home mortgages are falling to their lowest levels in more than eight years.

The Federal Reserve—no longer worried about rampant inflation—has pushed down interest rates in order to pep up the nation's economy. Recent cuts in the Fed's discount rate have helped 15- and 30-year fixed-rate mortgages drop below the nine percent interest rate barrier, according to a nationwide survey by the Meyers Report.

The survey shows that at the beginning of the week, interest rates at several Chicago-area mortgage lenders and a New York bank tumbled under nine percent. Rates also fell to nine percent at some banks and savings associations in Cincinnati, Houston and Los Angeles.

Late last week, the Veterans Administration lowered the ceiling on its 30-year government-guaranteed home loans to nine percent from nine-and-a-half percent.

Here are the highlights of the survey:

—In Illinois, First National Bank of Lincolnshire is offering a 30-year fixed-rate loan at eight-and-a-half percent.

North Shore Mortgage of Evanston quoted 8.9 percent on both 15- and 30-year mortgages. Chicago's Bede Financial and Nida Mortgage Corp. of Oak Brook quoted 8.75 percent on 15-year fixed-rate loans.

—In New York, Marine Midland Bank & Trust was charging 8.65 percent, plus 2.75 points on a 15-year fixed mortgage.

—In Los Angeles, Security Pacific Bank was quoting 9 percent on both 15- and 30-year loans. Points ranged from 1.5 percent to 2.5 percent.

—In Houston, Gibraltar Savings & Loan Assn. was charging nine percent, plus 2.5 points, on 15-year fixed loans.

Mortgage rates tend to soften near the end of the year—but home buying has slowed down, and most financial experts didn't anticipate the size of the cuts made by some lenders and the VA. (However, on April 18, 1986, The Meyers Report had forecast that mortgage rates would go below nine percent.)

"Mortgages under nine percent will cause a real rush to buy homes and refinance loans," said Mark Obrinsky, economist and deputy director of the U.S. League of Savings Institutions economics department.

According to Rick Nash, president of North Shore Mortgage, "Breaking the nine percent barrier is dramatic. I can't see them getting much lower."

The Federal Reserve Board has cut the discount rate four times this year, but another anticipated discount-rate cut could push mortgage rates still lower by the beginning of 1987.

Preston Martin, former vice chairman of the Fed, predicted that there still is "considerable room for further declines, particularly in long-term interest rates, including mortgage rates."

Nariman Behravesky, vice president of Philadelphia-based Wharton Econometric Forecasting Associates, said there is a 50-50 chance that the discount rate will drop before the end of the year, and he looks for another decline of 0.5 percentage points in the beginning of 1987.

Despite the new round of interest-rate reductions, most S&Ls may not allow rates to go below the nine- to nine-and-a-half percent range.

"There is an economic basis for lower mortgage rates, but S&Ls still have six percent and seven percent fixed-rate 30-year mortgages on their books, and this affects the spread between savings rates and mortgage yields," Obrinsky said.

Between 1975 and 1985, the spread between S&Ls' cost of funds and the yield on mortgage portfolios averaged a modest one-and-a-half percentage points.

However, in 1986, that spread averaged two-and-a-half percent. That means most savings and loans should be making a nice profit off the current home-lending boom. But...

"Rising administrative costs from banking deregulation likely will prevent S&Ls from dramatically reducing the large (gross profit) spread," said Michael L. Wilson, vice president of the U.S. League of Savings Associations. "New consumer lending programs, such as home equity loans, means it takes more for thrifts to operate profitably."

Wilson said that in 1987, it will be hard to find 30-year fixed-rate mortgages under nine percent at S&Ls.

Therefore, borrowers who want the lowest home-loan rates next year may find them at mortgage companies and banks.

Consider Needs Of Disabled

Dept. of Rehabilitation Services Director Susan S. Suter is appealing to all non-disabled motorists to avoid using specially marked "handicapped" parking spaces during this holiday shopping season.

"Holiday gift-giving for a person with a disability may be made difficult, if not impossible, by a non-disabled motorist improperly using a parking space marked 'handicapped' outside a store," Suter said in a statewide campaign launched Friday. Motorists who misuse parking spaces reserved for persons with disabilities are subject to a $50 fine in Illinois.

Abuse of handicapped designated parking spaces is a problem throughout the year, but is especially acute during the traditional holiday shopping season when parking lots are filled to capacity and weather may be less than optimal.

Suter asked all Illinois motorists to remember the holiday spirit. "This is a time for giving and sharing," she said. "Let's leave specially marked parking spaces open for people who need them."

Mahogany

Mahogany used to refer to 67 different kinds of wood that shared similar characteristics. Each could be sold in the United States under the name mahogany.

YMCA Pays Tribute To Publisher

The Lake County Family YMCA paid tribute to retired Waukegan News-Sun publisher Richard Kennedy on Nov. 24, with a special testimonial dinner at Glen Flora Country Club in Waukegan.

Special guest speaker was Illinois Atty. Gen. Neil Hartigan, a long-time friend of Kennedy. Others paying tribute to Kennedy and his years of service to the community included John O'Meara, president of First Midwest Bank; Dana Domerchie, speaking on behalf of Waukegan Mayor Bob Sabonjian; Graham Fram, representing the national YMCA; Phil Baske, executive director of the Lake County Family YMCA; David Hall, YMCA board member and past president; and William Devore, current YMCA board president.

Among other gifts, Kennedy was presented with a life-time membership to the Lake County Family YMCA and a commemorative YMCA plaque. It was also announced that the new swimming pool at the YMCA will be named for him.

Kennedy will serve as chairman for the Y's Phase II Capital Campaign Fund Drive which is slated to begin in early 1987.

Offer Booklet On Fat And Cancer

Most people don't like to think about fat, whether in diets or around the waistline, but its importance to health makes it a subject about which all should be more knowledgeable. A new booklet from the American Institute for Cancer Research, "All About Fat and Cancer Risk," removes the mystery from dietary fat and makes clear how important the fat in one's diet is to the health risk faced by all.

While most people are aware of fat in fried foods or as visible fat on meats, many people don't realize that there are hidden fats in many favorite foods.

Avacados, most dairy products, chocolate, nuts, most cookies, the powdered dairy creamer used in coffee, and many other common food items all add a great deal of fat to the average diet.

According to the booklet, the average American diet gets about 40 percent of its calories in the form of dietary fat. Because of the links which some research has shown between high fat diets and cancers of the breast, stomach and colon, the American Institute for Cancer Research recommends reducing fat to 30 percent or less of daily calories. This is similar to the recommendation of the American Heart Assn., which links high fat diets and heart disease.

A first step in cutting down on fat in the diet is understanding which foods are high in fat. This might seem hard to do at first, but labels for most processed foods show fat content in the form of grams of fat. The booklet explains that to figure out how many calories that represents, simply multiply the number of grams of fat in a serving by nine, since each gram of fat contains approximately nine calories.

A good general rule for reducing fat in the diet is to simply eat more fruits and vegetables, since these foods contain no fat or very small amounts. Reducing the amount of red meat and whole milk dairy products is another way to reduce fat in the diet. The booklet suggests other simple techniques, such as trimming fat from meat, substituting fish, chicken or turkey for red meats, using low fat or skim milk, and making or buying low fat salad dressings.

Fat is an important part of the diet, and necessary for good nutrition and good health. But excessive fat in the diet poses a definite health risk. For a free copy of "All About Fat and Cancer Risk," send a stamped, addressed, business-sized envelope to: American Institute for Cancer Research, Dept. FC, Washington, D.C. 20069.

Postmasters Seek To Reduce Injuries

Every winter many letter carriers are unable to work, some incapacitated for an extended period, as a result of injuries from falls on snow and ice.

This winter carriers will not risk injury to deliver mail, area postmasters said. They called on businesses and residents to help reduce the high incidence of slips, trips, and falls by letter carriers due to snow and ice.

"Your cooperation in clearing, salting and sanding the stairway and pathway to your mail receptacle will be appreciated," say the area postmasters. "We want to keep our carriers on their feet so they can continue to deliver the mail."

Rural carriers will not leave their vehicles to provide service on foot when approaches to rural mail boxes are blocked by snow.

"Our carriers will make every effort to deliver the mail, but if the approach to a letter box is obstructed delivery may not be possible. An attempt will be made to deliver the mail the next delivery day, and on subsequent delivery days, until the carrier has access to the mailbox," they said.

Executives Optimistic About 1987 Economy

Despite a few trouble spots, Illinois business leaders are optimistic about Illinois business prospects for 1987.

The annual business outlook survey of the 68-member board of directors of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce reflects agreement that the nation's economy will continue strong in 1987 and moderate growth is seen for the state.

Among those surveyed was Duane L. Burnham, executive vice president and chief financial officer, Abbot Laboratories, North Chicago.

Burnham said that during 1986, "cost control will again be the single most important influence on the health care industry."

"Hospitals and other health care providers face mounting pressures from government and private insurers alike to further control the costs of their services."

"In this environment," he continued, "successful suppliers will be those companies that offer technologically-advanced products that help reduce overall health care costs by increasing efficiency, cutting waste and providing for earlier detection and treatment of disease."

"Because of its diverse product line of cost effective products and an outstanding productivity record, Abbott is in an excellent position to continue to meet the challenges facing the health care industry," he concluded.

Executives polled in the survey, which examines prospects for growth in all sectors and regions of the state's economy, foresee moderate growth, mild inflation rate, stable levels of unemployment, steadily increasing employment in the service industry, and growth in collar counties, including high-tech corridors of Lake and DuPage counties.

Begging 'The Question'

Why doesn't the average citizen attend more meetings of local governmental bodies?

That is "the question" that elected officials always manage to pull out whenever a large crowd of people shows up to protest an action. It is designed to make people feel guilty for not playing their proper role in government.

We attended a meeting where officials were under fire recently. They promptly brought up "the question." It got us to thinking. We have never attended a meeting where an aroused public is present without "the question" being dragged out.

What is amusing is that the same officials who like to bring up "the question" when under fire themselves, seldom attend meetings of governmental bodies that they do not belong to or have a specific need to attend. One seldom sees a mayor at a school board or park district board or library board meeting, unless he has specific business to transact there.

The fact is almost no one attends governmental meetings as a matter of routine civic duty. If anyone did, he would have precious little time to do anything else. There are village board, school board, park board, library board, township board, and county board meetings to attend, not to mention the host of specialized committee meetings each of these bodies generate.

People have no need to be embarrassed that they do not routinely attend these meetings. Representative government means that the public at large chooses representatives to transact their business. The people who are elected are given broad latitude to do what they believe is best for all the people. They are not, however, given a blank check.

There is an old story of a little boy who, until he was five years old, never said a word. One night at dinner, he piped up with a complaint that the potatoes were cold. His astonished parents, who had previously thought him incapable of speech asked why he had never said anything before.

"Up until now," the boy replied, "everything has been just fine."

That is an equally appropriate response to officials who want to know why you don't attend public meetings more regularly.

Speaking Of Cheap Shots

Everyone, sports fan or not, within hearing, seeing or reading distance of a radio, tv set or newspaper, is aware of Packer Charles Martin's unsportsmanlike "slam-dunking" of Bear quarterback Jim McMahon during the Packer-Bear semi-annual gridiron rivalry.

NFL Commissioner Pete Roselle has imposed against Martin, the "heaviest fine ever" levied in the National Football League, a two game suspension without pay, that should get across the message that unsportsmanlike conduct will not be tolerated.

For anyone who believes that less spectacular technically illegal acts don't take place on our professional grids weekly, we have this bridge in San Francisco we'd like to sell.

Two Bears themselves, William Perry and Wilbur Marshall, though in a much lesser degree, would not have been the recipients of Emily Post's award for good manners after a previous Packer-Bear fracas.

But two wrongs don't make a right. Just as Martin's inexcusable performance doesn't make it OK for Bear Otis Wilson to comment that he would have gone to his car and gotten out his .44 magnum and blown Martin's head off.

Maybe the Steelers should have taken a bazooka to Wilson after Sunday's bloop.

In the same vein, WLS sportscaster Les Grobstein's remark the day after the Packer game that "All Wisconsinites are drunken cheeseheads," was just as uncalled for.

Shades of Mike Ditka and Dan Hampton: talk about the kettle calling the pot!

Some of the Bear fans that called in to Grobstein, praising him for his vocal cheap shots, are just as guilty of verbal unsportsmanlike conduct as Martin is.

One lady claimed that she has friends in Wisconsin and they are all stupid. These Wisconsinites might fall into that category if they continue to consider that particular lady a friend. Castigating a whole state for the actions of one football player actually makes that caller dumber than her supposed friends.

Illinois and Wisconsin are good neighbors, especially in the Lakeland area where residents of both states have been taking advantage of each others' resources for years.

Let's not let a football game change that!

Less Students, Higher Costs For Colleges

by BILL SCHROEDER

One of the intriguing aspects of the future of education in Illinois is a well-documented decline in the college-age population in the next nine years. If nature follows its course, there should be a corresponding decrease in enrollment in the state's colleges and universities through 1995.

Taxpayers and politicians should look kindly upon the projected decline. So should parents of future college-bound children. Now if only educators who control budgets will take cognizance.

State Comptroller Roland W. Burris, who keeps track of all sorts of numbers, has pegged the enrollment decline at 27,000 students—four percent. He's basing his projection on an anticipated decline of approximately 56,000 persons in the 18 to 24 age bracket. In fact, the decline has already begun.

The decline should provide a bit of relief on current enrollment of 698,521 which is 32,190 higher than fiscal 1977. Burris reported that during the last 10 years, tuition and fees have at least doubled. In fiscal 1986, the average was $1,615—a total of $993 more than the average tuition and fees in fiscal '77. For four-year private institutions, the average this year is $6,263, not quite double of fiscal 1977.

When board and room and others costs are factored in, you can see that higher education has grown beyond the reach of many families. Were it not for all sorts of aid programs, higher education would have priced itself out of the market by now. In case you think the state has been niggardly, consider this eye-popper: State spending for higher education in fiscal 1986 was $1.619 billion, a whopping 93.9 percent increase from FY '77.

What we're spending to make our children smarter takes your breath away, doesn't it?

START TO FINISH—Her fellow workers never knew it, but when Jean Rybicki recently retired as manager of the Lakeland Newspaper Antioch office, she told about her first job—also in the newspaper field.

"I was nine years old and my brother and I had a newspaper route in Chicago for the Hearst papers. We carried them morning and afternoon, and took turns," Mrs. Rybicki recalled. "I guess I couldn't get away from the newspaper business." Chicago of that era had about a half dozen daily newspapers.

*****

INSIPID, CLOYING—Maybe I'm overly sensitive, but I find the current CBS television radio commercial hyping the honesty and forthrightness of Dan Rather one of the most insipid, cloying commercials in a long time. The spiel beseeches, "Who do you trust?" Dan Rather? Ugh!

Letters To The Editor:

Support Relocation

Editor:

My wife and I are residents of the Arbor Vista subdivision and have two small children, one a student at Woodland Elementary School.

We both fully support the move from Woodland and Warren to the Libertyville schools.

At the Nov. 17 Woodland School Board meeting, the number of additional students coming from new housing developments was discussed. As many as 1,700 more students are estimated to be coming into the district within the next few years. To a district already near capacity!

The Woodland School Board would like you to believe they need our subdivision for our tax dollars. But, at the redistricting hearing, an expert witness testified that both Woodland and Warren would actually gain money the first year Arbor Vista was gone.

With the new students that will soon be added to the district, it seems to me that the school board is only wasting taxpayers' money on legal fees to keep the few Arbor Vista children.

Illinois school code mandates that any proposed redistricting be to the best interest of the schools of the area and even more importantly, the education welfare of the pupils.

I suggest the school boards stop prolonging the hearings, stop this waste of taxpayers' money and concentrate on the welfare of the students.

Richard O'Connell

Underutilized

Editor:

Some members of School Dist. 118 were "shocked" at the outcome of their latest attempt to pass another tax hike referendum. Demographically, the majority of Wauconda residents are older citizens who no longer have children in school. Anybody looking at their real estate tax bill realizes that approximately 59 percent of their taxes goes to the school district. Therefore, to effectively win support of this group, the district must show that the current level of taxes are being used efficiently.

The projections for the upcoming years at Wauconda High School is in the 400's, versus a capacity of 1,200. Obviously, the high school is terribly underutilized and must be compensated for. Just a couple of months ago the school board had an opportunity to use this wasted space by placing junior high classes in the high school. But a number of vocal teachers and parents expressed their displeasure at this and the plan was turned down. The school district also has to show the community that they have cut costs in this declining situation (cuts through teacher reductions, maintenance reductions, trimming fringe activities, etc.)

If the school district can honestly say that it is working at the "bare bone" level and that there is no fat to trim, I'm sure the community would respond favorably to a tax increase. If the district has not cut as much as it should, maybe they should redirect their energy and efforts away from numerous tax referendums and apply it to fiscal responsibility.

More Than A Cup

Editor:

By now everyone should have their real estate tax bills. How do you like them? Mine figured out to be raised high enough to increase my house payment by quite a bit more than the "cup of coffee a day" predicted by the well-informed people who pushed for referendums. To these people and all the yes votes, enjoy your coffee and have a Merry Christmas.

Let's Play War

Editor:

I would like to share some feelings I have pertaining to popular militaristic role playing games. I refer to the article entitled, "So, You Want To Be A Soldier?"

Physically these "survival" games are no better or worse than many other outdoor activities and perhaps safer than some such as hunting. As a physical activity I have no conflict with these "survival" games. It is the overall rationale that I find troubling. The question for me is, "Why would I wish to participate in a game whose goal is the mock portrayal of a killing?" Would the incidental suspense and camaraderie make it worth my time? I doubt it. I imagine that friendship & excitement are two very important reasons for many who do participate in these survival games. What then does this say of the world & the society that these games inhabit?

Winning and losing each has its price. This doesn't enter so much into the theory of games as it does the quality that makes us people. As for me, I feel the goals portrayed in survival games are all too present in the greater world in which we find ourselves. If we are to play at an aspect of life, I should hope that we would all choose a better one to win at.

Blood Disease

Editor:

As a parent of a victim of aplastic anemia, an unusual blood disease, I have become active in the Aplastic Anemia Foundation of America.

President Reagan, upon a joint resolution in the House of Representatives, has declared the period between Dec. 1 and Dec. 7, 1986, as "National Aplastic Anemia Awareness Week."

This is a disease that will probably be of greater and greater concern in the future because one of the known causes is nuclear and atomic radiation. The deaths at Hiroshima, Nagasaki and more recently at Chernobyl are attributable to radiation sickness which caused the victims aplastic anemia.

O Tannenbaum, O Tannenbaum!

by MARK BENNO

There are two kinds of people in the world: those who see a fragrant, freshly cut Christmas tree in their living room, and those who see the pine needles stuck under the radiator.

For those who measure the effectiveness of a Christmas tree by how many needles it manages to dump on the floor, or how much time is spent in finding the perfect tree, the holiday season must be a nervous event endured in great anxiety.

Actually, the Christmas tree, as we know it, symbolizes all of the relaxed comfort and cheer associated with this happy holiday. It is not simply a plant torn from the ground to temporarily adorn our homes, but a ritual event that properly prepares us for the most fulfilling Christmas celebrations.

The felling of small pine trees to honor the birth of Christ originated in Roman times. The custom then moved on to Germany and Great Britain, where it became normal to decorate the tree with candles, candy, and ivy. The tradition finally ended up in America, of course, where its many nationalities united in common usage of the Christmas tree as a token of the season.

The best time to go out and cut down a Christmas tree is two to three weeks before Christmas day, as centuries of Christmas tree harvesting have taught us. It's a family event, and every person capable of walking a mile or two and carrying a saw should participate in the exciting ritual.

Lake County still has a few good trees left to cut, but the motherlode of the most symmetrical and bushy trees remains in Wisconsin, near the Lake Geneva area. It is here that the dreams of a holiday are made.

Once a suitable lot has been chosen, prospective tree buyers should drive to the location in an appropriate vehicle. Volkswagen beetles and compact cars are generally a bit too small to accommodate most Christmas trees; a pick-up truck or station wagon usually does the trick, though.

Upon arrival at the tree location, parties of four or more should split up to comb the area for the best trees. Never, never pick the first tree that looks good. Buyers remorse is sure to set in, and it's a sure bet that an even better tree can be found over the next ridge.

In this quick, sweeping manner, each family should find four or five trees that meet their Christmas tree requirements. Remember, however, that there are multitudes of other families hungry for that perfect tree, and as far as Christmas trees are concerned, the early bird really does catch the worm.

Also, like dealings with food, our eyes tend to be larger than our living rooms. That nine foot Christmas tree may have the most beautiful shape you've ever seen, but it would have to grow into the second floor of most houses to fit. Trees five to seven feet in height are usually the best ones to purchase.

Once everyone has had their input in the decision making process, the tree is ready for felling. Don't worry if one or two family members look dissatisfied with your selection, since this almost always happens. Once they see that Christmas tree lit up and decorated, the frown on their face will melt into bubbly grin.

Since a Christmas tree is a soft wood with a thin trunk, the only tool necessary to cut it down is a small hand-saw. The strongest member of each tree party should get acquainted with the ground and snow and start cutting. Cut the trunk as close to the ground as possible, since stumps covered with snow cause more pratfalls than a Chevy Chase movie.

Expect to spend anywhere from $30 to $75 for a freshly cut Christmas tree. Most establishments charge by the foot, so naturally a taller tree will be more expensive. Once the tree has been purchased, strap it firmly to your vehicle and head for home.

Water is the gift of life, and the same law applies to Christmas trees. As soon as the tree is on home soil, stick its exposed stump in a bucket of water. Keep it in the bucket of water overnight, and make sure the water level is well above the stump.

Fancy ads and gimmicks aside, fresh water everyday is the best way to keep a Christmas tree fragrant and in control of its needles. Close adherence to this routine will insure that your tree and its needles remain close friends until well after New Year's Day.

Erect the tree in a noticeable place at home, preferably in front of a window facing the road, so passerby can enjoy the beauty of your tree. Then you're ready to plop the Little Drummer Boy on the stereo, make the drinks, pop the popcorn, and start trimming that tree to Christmas perfection.

The hard reality of the situation is, that once Christmas is over, a messy tree will require your attention and removal. It's true that an artificial tree can be disassembled and packed away in the basement in a matter of minutes, but wouldn't it then also be quicker to serve TV dinners instead of that time consuming ham or turkey for Christmas?

One can imagine a cold night near Christmas almost 2,000 years ago, when a frightened Roman brought a fresh Christmas tree to his home to celebrate the forbidden holiday of Christ's birth. To the Romans and future generations, the Christmas tree meant much more than a nice plant to litter presents under and steal candy canes from, it focused the spirit and love of the season in one beautiful object.

In fact, if you look at a Christmas tree in the right way, its symmetrical branches seem to flow upwards, projecting our attention towards the heavens. And in an era when our attention seems to always be focused downwards and away from the sky, that can't happen enough.

Tips For Round Steak

Pilot Light

GREG MELIKOV

In the still of the night, long after the final meal or snack of the day, they're still cooking on television.

About midnight one evening, sitting in the dark, dialing for a decent TV program, with the family in bed, I tuned in a gourmet fixing round steak in an unusual method—in a roaster pan.

Well, I flipped on a table lamp, went for paper and ballpoint pen, and took notes. I captured the recipe without missing an ingredient.

I remember one observation by the TV chef: Meat needs room to breathe while cooking.

Plenty of room also makes meat easier to turn in a skillet or other pan.

I prepared the dish that weekend. It wasn't disappointing.

Round Steak Supreme

4 pounds top round steak, cut in 12 pieces
1 cup all-purpose flour, sifted
½ pound lightly salted butter
2 teaspoons olive oil
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup chopped green pepper
½ pound sliced mushrooms

½ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon black pepper
1½ teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
1½ teaspoons soy sauce
Several drops Tabasco sauce
½ cup canned tomato sauce
½ cup beef gravy
2 cans (15 oz.) early peas

Dredge meat in flour, brown several at a time in melted butter and hot oil on medium heat in large skillet and place on large plate, draining juices back into pan. Preheat oven at 400 degrees. In same skillet, saute onion several minutes, then green pepper several minutes, then mushrooms several minutes, occasionally stirring and scraping pan. Add garlic powder, pepper, Worcestershire, soy sauce, Tabasco, tomato sauce and beef gravy, stirring; stir in peas with juice, cover, reduce heat to medium low and cook 15 minutes, until peas wilt. Place 6 round steaks in deep roaster pan, spoon on half of sauce; cover with remaining round steaks, top with rest of sauce. Cover roaster with foil and bake 40 to 45 minutes. Serves 6.

Carmel, Warren Rivalry In Tourney Style

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

Second games of basketball seasons are usually plagued with turnovers, many fouls, and miscommunication as the teams try to find some sort of sync.

But that certainly was not the case when Warren met Carmel at the Mundelein Thanksgiving tournament last week.

"I thought it was a pretty well-played ball game for the second game of the season," Warren coach Darrel Bader said after his team came off the short end of a 46-45 count.

The contest drew one of the bigger crowds of the tournament as the rivalry between the Gurnee school and the private school in Mundelein becomes more emotional.

Just a few months ago at Libertyville High School, the two teams were locked in a tight, emotional struggle which the Corsairs eventually won in overtime. That contest featured tough defense on both sides, important shifts in momentum and rallies.

Ditto for the contest the day after Thanksgiving. The teams were almost in mid-March form.

Carmel jumped off to the early lead before Warren began working the ball inside to Brian Jarrell and eventually caught Carmel on a jumper by Derek Shelton. Warren extended its lead to six, but Carmel rallied to cut it to three at halftime.

Carmel used a pressing defense to gain the upper hand in the third quarter and led 38-35 after three.

"We thought it would be to our advantage to create more of an uptempo game," Carmel coach Frank Belmont said.

The fourth quarter was an emotional see-saw affair. Six points by Jarrell made it a 41-40 game.

Warren scored its final points of the game with a Jarrell hoop that made it 45-44 with just over three minutes left.

Carmel's Rob Graham, about a minute later, put home the game winner on a tough inside move. Graham and Jarrell, in the game's battle of the big men, offset each other with 20 points each.

But after Graham scored his winning hoop,

Overtime

there was still plenty of excitement left in this one.

CHS' Aubrey O'Bryant pulled down a clutch defensive rebound off a Jarrell miss with less than 10 seconds left.

O'Bryant, though missed the subsequent free throw, allowing Warren's fans a chance to hope—just like in March when the Blue Devils forced the OT.

A Shelton shot spun out of the rim from 30 feet, sending Carmel home with an important victory for the young team's confidence.

"This team needed to win a close one and this is a step in the right direction," Belmont said.

John Welling, a 6-2 senior forward, tallied 11 points to compliment Graham's 20.

For Warren, Shelton had 15 points but the next highest scorers were three players with four points each.

Hoops Notes: So, after 10 games in three days at Mundelein High School (Mundelein Athletic Director John Graham ran both boys and girls tourneys at the same time), here are a few thoughts from a cluttered notebook:

From the teams to watch out for department, put the Fremd Vikings on the top of the list. Fremd easily outclassed all three area schools competing in the boys tourney at Mundelein, winning by 31, 16 and 13 points, respectively over Mundelein, Carmel and Warren. The team features two players with two first names: Tom Howard and Jason Joseph—but the Vikings are one powerful outfit.

"I was impressed by how physically strong they were," Bader said. Warren came as close as anyone to beating the Palatine school, but a 32-14 deficit on the rebounds was just too much to overcome.

In the girls tournament, Warren started the year off right with a 3-0 mark, beating Carmel, Mundelein and Grant in the process. Coach Bruce Campbell's team is 4-0 overall heading into the meat of the North Suburban Conference slate.

Defense is the name of the game for the small team as the Blue Devils held each team to under 50 points.

Carmel girls coach Bob Haukedahl believes the Illinois High School Assn. made a wrong move in condensing the season by two weeks. He says, rightly so, that playing more games in less time means less time to practice out kinks.

Some history: when the IHSA started girls basketball tournaments in 1977, it was a two-class, two-weekend final at Champaign after the two boys tournaments were played. Coaches then said the season was too long, stretching from November to April.

Because of an oversight, an incorrect schedule for Grant was in the special section.

The Bulldogs host Salem Central Dec. 6 and Round Lake Dec. 12. On Dec. 13, they face McHenry away and host Marengo Dec. 19.

After a stay at the DeKalb Holiday Tournament Dec. 22-27, Grant travels to Grayslake Jan. 9 and Crystal Lake Central Jan. 10. ## Improved CHS Faces Tough Loop Stretch

Getting a little better each game is the secret to success in basketball, and that's why Carmel coach Frank Belmont is pleased with his team's 2-1 start.

"It was a good tournament for us because there was several areas where we improved each night," Belmont said of his team's play in the Mundelein Thanksgiving tournament.

Carmel opened the season by being trounced 66-50 by tournament champion Fremd in a game which saw the Corsairs ahead at half-time. Carmel then edged Warren 46-45 in the tournament's closest contest before blasting Mundelein 78-57 in the tournament finale.

"The first night, I thought we made some bad mistakes in crucial situations in the fourth quarter and we improved upon that against Warren. Tonight, overall, I thought we did the best job passing the ball," Belmont said.

Carmel will need improvement in the next few weeks. Carmel opens a tough East Suburban Catholic Conference season at home against Joliet Catholic Dec. 5. Then it is at St. Patrick, St. Viator and Marist.

Carmel started three different lineups in the tournament and Belmont said that is not necessarily a negative.

"That's what these tournaments are for. To find the right combinations. We can go big, we can go small. There has to be an understanding among the players that just because they may not start, it is not a reflection on how they played. We're doing it for the effectiveness of the team. The deeper you are, the better off you are," Belmont said.

Belmont said there is "an idiotic stigma about starting."

Senior Rob Graham played three consistent games, but Aubrey O'Bryant had a couple of clutch plays against Warren and forward Scott Stahoviak and John Welling also stood out.

"Welling is one of the people who will have to play well for us to be successful. He was tight the first night, but he'll gain more confidence all the time," Belmont said.

Against Fremd, the Corsairs played the bigger Vikings even for the first half. A bucket by O'Bryant made it 28-26 Carmel at half-time.

Fremd, though, regrouped and began to take control in the third quarter. The Vikings outscored the Cor-

Antioch Starts Hockey Era

A new era is dawning in Antioch High School sports.

The Sequoits have long had the traditional teams—football, basketball and the like. But this winter, hockey starts at ACHS.

"We have 25 players and that's pretty good," Antioch coach Larry Kmin said.

The Sequoits are paying their own way this winter by buying their own sticks, skates, etc. So far, Kmin is pleased with the results.

"The kids are really enthusiastic about it," he said.

Antioch is making its debut on the ice in the Northern Illinois Hockey League, a league that includes area teams Grayslake and Carmel as well. Zion, Crystal Lake South, Crystal Lake Central and Cary-Grove are also in the league.

Kmin said the team will consist of some seniors, but also freshmen and sophomores.

Kmin said his squad will be strong on the first two lines. He plans on fielding four offensive lines and three on defense.

Key players include junior Jeff Lind, sophomore Tony Chinn and the Frangais brothers, Tom and Joel.

"I'd like us to be competitive and finish above .500," Kmin said.

Kmin acknowledged that the help of Charlie Schabazian has been instrumental in the early development of the Antioch program.

sairs 6-1 over the last two minutes of the quarter, gaining a 44-38 lead.

The fourth quarter was all Fremd as the Vikings opened up a 10-point margin.

"Evidently, we were not prepared to play against a zone defense," Belmont said.

After topping Warren in a thriller, Carmel pulled gradually pulled away from Mundelein.

"They came out and played with intensity for 32 minutes with injuries and three players with virtually no experience. It will payoff for them," Blemont said of Mundelein.

Mundelein's uptempo style created an even game in the first quarter. Carmel began pulling away in the waning moments, building a 18-14 lead on a Stahoviak bucket.

Hoops by Graham and Dan Halverson and a free throw from Stahoviak opened the lead to 23-16 early in the second quarter. Carmel then put on another rush at the end of the quarter, and led 37-26 at halftime.

Carmel blew the game open in the third quarter as Mundelein's top inside player, 6-6 Joe Wiener, fouled out. The lead reached was 22 points at 62-40 when the quarter ended.

"We didn't do anything special to get Wiener into foul trouble, but he had a lot to contend with," Belmont said.

"Wiener is one player who has to stay in the game," Mundelein coach Dennis Kessel said.

Brian Kristoffersen had 18 to lead the Mustang attack.

Carmel's magic number in scoring was 15 as Graham, Welling and Halverson all tallied that amount.

WTHS, MHS Hoopsters Hope For League Wins

Warren and Mundelein's boys basketball teams will both be looking for fresh starts when North Suburban Conference play starts Dec. 5.

Warren hosts Stevenson while Mundelein is at Zion-Benton in league openers.

The two teams experienced a mixed bag of results at the Mundelein Thanksgiving tournament last weekend. The Blue Devils finished 1-2, the only win coming at the hands of the Mustangs, who were 0-3.

Fremd won the tournament handily, beating Carmel, Mundelein and Warren by more than 10 points each.

For Warren coach Darrel Bader, the task at hand is finding some consistent offense besides senior Brian Jarrell and junior Derek Shelton. The duo scored in double figures all three games, but the other starters all failed to reach 10 points.

"We need to work on getting in sync together offensively and we need to work on rebounding defensively," Bader said.

When practice started, Bader said juniors on the club would "have to grow up fast". That proved correct in the three tourney games, as the inexperience of the other three starters showed at times.

Warren opened the tourney on a bright note, downing Mundelein 53-47. After a 46-45 loss to Carmel, Warren lost to Fremd 60-47, but that score was the closest any team would come to the Vikings this tourney.

For Mundelein, it was all downhill after the close loss to Warren. The Mustangs came into the tournament minus Jeff Geary, out with a football injury and later lost guard J. T. Mathwig to injury. In the last two games, Mundelein lost to Fremd 64-33 and Carmel 78-57.

"I thought the kids played intense. But it was an opportunity for some guys to show what they could do on a fulltime basis and that did not occur. I was very disappointed with the lack of leadership," Mundelein coach Dennis Kessel said.

In the Warren contest, the Mustangs jumped off to a 16-13 lead after eight minutes. Warren regained control in the second stanza, taking advantage of several Mundelein turnovers, for a 30-26 halftime lead.

A tip-in by Joe Wiener closed the margin to 39-37 after three quarters.

Mundelein enjoyed short-lived leads in the fourth period, the last at 45-44 on two Wiener free throws.

But Warren pulled it out with clutch play in the final two minutes.

Jarrell, showing his senior leadership, scored the last seven Warren points, the last on a free throw with four seconds left.

Kessel was pleased with his team's effort in the opener.

"We played under a lot of adversity, but we never quit. The difference was Warren is used to winning and this group is not. It will take winning a close one to give them some confidence," Kessel said.

That did not happen against Carmel and Fremd.

Against Fremd, the contest was decided all but the final score by the end of the first quarter.

Mundelein led 5-4 at one point, but nine straight Fremd points made it 14-5. Fremd led 16-6 after one quarter and 30-18 at halftime.

Warren also had ran into the buzzsaw of Fremd, but did manage to make it look closer.

The key in this one, though, was Fremd's two-to-one edged in rebounding.

Defense Leads Warren

by STEVE PETERSON
Sports Editor

The trophy for the first-ever Mundelein girls basketball tournament was not ready to be presented to the Warren girls team after it had won the Thanksgiving tournament.

But that was a small detail as far as coach Bruce Campbell's team is concerned. The big picture is what this team is about and so far that adds up to four wins in as many outings.

Defense was Warren's strong suit through the tourney. Warren topped Carmel 50-41, Mundelein 48-40 and then blasted Grant 45-27.

"Any time you can hold a girls team to under 50 points, you will do well," Campbell said.

The Devils host Niles North Dec. 4 at 6:30 p.m.

Warren, a small team with its tallest starter at 5' 9", used an effective defense to dictate tempo in the three victories. The Blue Devils had opened the season with a lopsided win over North Chicago.

Senior Terri Ingalls and sophomore Crystal Cobb carried the bulk of the scoring load for the three contests. However, Campbell said he was pleased with the showing of the entire team.

"Cobb and Ingalls will have to do a lot of the scoring for us. But I liked the way the other girls chipped in. There will be nights when Crystal or Terri are not playing up to par and it will be up to them to pick up the slack," Campbell said.

In the tournament opener against Carmel, Warren broke open a close first half with that pressing defense in the second quarter. The Blue Devils turned Corsair errors into a 28-22 halftime lead.

"That's what got us over the hump," Campbell said of the defense. "We did not shoot as well as we can."

Of the fourth quarter, he said, "You've got to win those types of games if you are going to be successful."

Against Mundelein, Warren lead 12-6 after one

Warren led 13-4 in the first quarter against Grant before allowing the Bulldogs to get back into the game, leading 13-10 after one.

Warren extended the margin to 26-16 at halftime and led by as many as 20 points in the fourth quarter.

Cobb led the way with 19 points while Ingalls had 12.

Rams, Panthers Aim For Success

Round Lake and Grayslake's girls basketball teams both hope to turn a wide-open Northwest Suburban Conference race into a successes this winter.

Both squads finished in the middle of the league pack last season, Round Lake tied for fourth at 6-8 and Grayslake next at 5-9.

"We think we can make a good showing in the conference. The conference is wide open this year. Lake Zurich graduated a lot of people and Marengo, the second-place team last year, is expected to be tough but it's wide open after that," Grayslake coach Brad Larson said.

Both Round Lake and Grayslake had tough starts in the Deerfield tournament. Round Lake lost all three games while Grayslake's only win came at the expense of the Panthers.

"We're a small team, but I hope we can use our speed to our advantage," Larson said.

Grayslake had chances in the Stevenson contest as the game did not get out of hand until the fourth quarter.

Grayslake's top returning player is Lisa Coxon, who set a record for the Rams last year.

Expected to help in scoring are Lisa Richardson at forward, junior guard Christie Blasius, Diane Cisaroni and center Ann Link.

"They know everyone is bigger than they are, but they know what they can do," Larson said.

Defense will be a key this year for the Rams.

"Our zone press is a real weapon," Larson said.

Meanwhile, at Round Lake, Gary Edge is trying to start something new.

"There has never been a winning tradition for girls basketball at Round Lake and we would like to establish that type of tradition," Edge said.

"We have to cut down on our turnovers - that's the main thing," Edge said.

Edge would also like to see a little more offense than the 38, 28 and 34 points his team scored in the tournament.

Denise Kraly led the Round Lake attack against Grayslake, scoring 19 points while Johna Steager scored 14 against Deerfield. Tina Walls was high scorer with seven points against Stevenson.

The squad is a young one, with two seniors, forward Staeger and guard Kelly Jensen, as the team leaders.

"We're trying to learn how to win," Edge said.

Up For Two

Sequoits Hope Home Cooking Brings Victories

Tradition will be on the line when the Antioch boys basketball team opens its North Suburban Conference season against Niles North Dec. 5.

"We won nine games played at Antioch last year and the team is looking forward to making the Antioch gym a tough place for opponents to play," Antioch coach Don Zeman said.

The Sequoits opened the year against three bigger and quicker teams in the Barrington Holiday tournament. The result was three losses: 64-50 to Barrington, 69-60 to Libertyville and 77-44 to Elgin Larkin.

"In spurts, we played well in all three games. I was not devastated by losing all three," Zeman said.

"The game was close for a while until their size over took us," Zeman said of Barrington.

"We just did not have the quickness Libertyville has," Zeman said.

In Elgin Larkin, Antioch simply found itself up against all-state candidate Tony Sorkich, who scored 30 first-half points.

Rick Korjenek, a 6-0 senior guard, scored 10.3 points a game, including 18 versus Libertyville. In that game, he was 10-for-11 from the free-throw line.

John Mehnert added 12 against Libertyville.

Wade Kilman led the attack against Barrington with 13 points.

Zeman said the Sequoits will have to do a better job of getting close-in shots.

"We found ourselves shooting too much from the perimeter," Zeman said.

The coach said the team also needs work on rebounding.

In Niles North, Antioch must shut down the Vikings' leading scorer, Jim Foster.

"I think we will matchup better with them," Zeman said.

CLC Men Finish Second At Harper Tournament

by JOHN PHELPS

The defending Skyway Conference mens basketball team is hoping a repeat performance of Saturday's contest against Wright will not be in the making down the road.

The Lancers, who will face the Skyway Conference foe twice and possibly three times later this season, were outsize and outscored by Wright 81-71 in the championship game of the Harper Thanksgiving Tournament.

CLC hosts Rock Valley Dec. 6. The Lady Lancers play at 5 p.m. with the mens game starting at 8 p.m.

CLC posted a 60-52 victory over host Harper to move into the championship game. CLC displayed a well-balanced attack to dispatch of the Hawks. Individually, leading the way was David Tucker with 15 points and 13 rebounds, Todd Gordon with 14 points and 10 rebounds, Dave Sitz with 13 points and 15 boards and Terry Wright finished with 12 points and nine rebounds.

The Lancers had nine turnovers in the game, five of which came in the first five minutes of play, as Harper jumped out to a 10-0 lead. The keys to the game for CLC, as evident by the fine comeback, were Gordon and Tucker's conversions of the three point field goals and a spurt which resulted in a Lancer lead in two minutes. Also part of the comeback was CLC's balance on the boards, both offensively and defensively, as the Lancers grabbed a 22-21 halftime lead.

The momentum carried over to the second half as Lake County outscored Harper 38-31, en route to the first-round win.

CLC Sports Notebook

"We had a good comeback tonight, highlighted by balance in every category. Our delay game to protect the lead with 3:30 left also worked well as we hung on for the victory," CLC coach Bruce Smith said.

However, heading into the finals against the Wright Rams, who had disposed of Muscatine (Iowa), a different story was about to unfold.

CLC was looking at size, inside penetration and offensive rebounding in Wright. Despite the 10-point loss, coach Smith felt the team played well.

Performing well individually in the losing effort, was Tucker with 23 points and five rebounds, Dave Sitz with 17 points and nine boards, Wright with 11 points and four rebounds, and Gordon with eight points and six rebounds.

CLC seemed in control in the first half, clinging to a 38-37 halftime lead. Unfortunately for the Lancers, Wright outscored CLC 43-33 in the second half to claim the championship.

In the consolation game, Muscatine handed Harper its second loss in as many days, claiming third place with a 105-73 drubbing.

Grayslake Wins Tourney, Faces 'Dogs In NWSC Opener

Grayslake boys basketball coach Greg Groth knows the secret to success for the Rams this winter.

Defense.

"The kids know we will have to play good defense if we are to beat people. It's just that simple," Groth said.

And it's been so far, so good for the Rams. Grayslake won the Johnsbury Thanksgiving Tournament by holding Richmond-Burton, Johnsbury and Burlington Central all under 50 points. The Rams beat Richmond-Burton 57-39 in the opener and then topped Johnsbury 56-48 and Burlington-Central 59-46 for the championship.

Groth feels a key to the team's success will be how the Rams fare against equals in the Northwest Suburban Conference - Marian Central, Johnsbury and Wauconda.

The first such test comes Dec. 5 when Grayslake travels to Wauconda in the league opener for both teams. The game is Lakeland Newspapers' Game of the Week.

The Bulldogs may have won only one game last year, but are off to a good start this season. Wauconda topped Cary-Grove in a 58-57 thriller in the Round Lake tournament.

"Wauconda has a very good coach in Chuck Neary and year in and year out there is not a team around that tries harder. Cary-Grove is a good team. They have three real good players but Wauconda played very aggressively and made them turn the ball over," Groth said.

Game Of The Week

"Grayslake will play an up-tempo style because they like to run. We have to keep doing things we do best and play within our limitations," Neary said of the league opener.

Wauconda took advantage of a flat Cary-Grove team in the early going. The Bulldogs led 13-10 after one quarter.

The Bulldogs continued to hustle on defense and got points from sharpshooting forward Chuck Cermak as the game stayed close throughout. C-G pounded the ball inside for points from Mike Jordan, Troy Lewis and Mike DeFranco, taking advantage of their size and finally grabbing a 44-43 lead in the fourth quarter.

Looking a bit out of control, the Bulldogs made some turnovers and appeared to be fading when senior forward Pat Schaller hit two free throws for a 54-52 lead. Another Schaller field goal gave Wauconda a 56-55 momentary lead. Cary guard Doug Shea then made a steal for a layup to put the Trojans ahead by one.

With 10 seconds left, a screaming crowd drowned out Neary's call for a timeout to set up the final play. As it turned out, the noise was a blessing as the Bulldogs got the ball inside to Schaller who twisted a shot under enormous pressure through the net with three seconds left.

"We were lucky we did not get the timeout because we might not have scored otherwise. In the future, we're going to have to make sure we play heads-up basketball and do the things we're supposed to do, but we'll, take that one any day," a happy Neary said.

Neary said his team played with intensity in all three games, but against Cary-Grove, "we shot well and maintained our composure. We're very young and it showed up in the first two games. At times we're still running a bit out of control and we have to out hustle opponents and take it to them to win."

Grayslake was led on offense by senior captain Andrew Flood. Flood scored 59 points in three games and was the tournament's most valuable player.

"He knows how to take the ball to the bucket," Groth said of Flood.

Timm West, a sophomore, contributed 31 points in the three games. "He helped us a lot," Groth said.

From the guard position, Butch LaNoir directed the offense from the point while Eric Olson contributed 11 assists in one contest.

"The biggest thing we picked up was that everybody knows their responsibilities and roles," Groth, in his third season at Grayslake, said.

In other NWSC openers, Round Lake hosts defending champion Marengo, Grant hosts Marian Central and Johnsbury is at Lake Zurich.

Panthers Face Test In Conference Opener

by JIM BUTSCHLI

Round Lake's basketball team captured its third straight Thanksgiving Tournament by blasting Wauconda, edging Cary-Grove and coming back against Dundee-Crown in a last-minute thriller to win the first place trophy.

When the Panthers host Northwest Suburban Conference defending champion Marengo Dec. 5, Round Lake will be a team with newfound poise and confidence thanks to solid tournament performances.

"Marengo is a great ballclub. They beat DeKalb in the Sycamore Holiday tournament and it will be a very intense ball game," Round Lake coach Bob Ward said.

The Indians made it to the Class A Sweet Sixteen last season.

"My impression is we've improved with each game and that's what we're looking for. We are impressed with our overall team play, especially on defense. If we did one thing well tonight, I thought defensively we had good pressure on the ball and made it difficult for them to move it around," Ward said after the Panthers edged Dundee-Crown 64-62.

Round Lake brings a 3-0 record to the Marengo game. Dundee-Crown finished the tourney at 2-1, Wauconda 1-2 and Cary-Grove was 0-3.

A hard-working Panther defense swarmed over Dundee-Crown in what turned out to be the championship game of the round robin tournament. In the final, Dundee-Crown's Chargers built a 21-12 lead thanks to the inside play of 6-8 Randy Copher (12 points) and the quickness of guards James Haywood (20 points) and Blake Pilgram (10 points).

When Panther starting center Brian Richardson drew his third personal foul late in the third quarter, Round Lake looked in trouble.

That's when the Jim Bills show began.

Leading over opponents for offensive rebounds, Bills, who led all scorers with 22 points, hit two straight hoops to narrow the Charger lead to 21-16 after one quarter.

The Charger lead jumped to 27-16, but Bills, Bob Akers (14 points) and Frank Russell (15 points) staged a comeback, scoring 12 straight points to bring the crowd to a roar. The half-time score was notted at 34-34.

With the speedy Haywood taking command, D-C dominated the third period and Round Lake's Richardson fouled out of the contest with 2:52 left in the third quarter. Entering the fourth quarter, the Panthers trailed 54-46 and appeared to be hanging on for dear life.

That's when the defense began to shut down the Chargers and a trapping scheme led by guards Keith Schmidt (six points) and Russell brought the Panthers to within one at 62-61 after a Bills' basket.

A Round Lake steal with one minute left in the game brought the crowd to its feet and when Charger giant Copher fouled out, pandemonium broke loose.

A Dave Anyczak free throw tied the contest and the Panthers got the ball back, spreading the offense out to allow Akers to sneak inside for a layup to give Round Lake the 64-62 lead with 15 seconds left. Drama continued as Pilgram's shot rolled off the rim but he was hammered inside with 10 seconds left and was sent to the free-throw line. He missed both shots under the delirious crowd noise, yet the Chargers got the rebound, missing four shot shots as time expired and the Panthers raced onto the court in jubilation.

Afterwards, coach Ward praised his team's second and fourth quarter comebacks. Despite playing without Richardson, a mainstay in the team's first two wins, the Panthers, "did a tremendous job. Russell and Schmidt had great games. Schmidt is a senior and has played in our program for four years now without being a starter. He was real intense and put extreme pressure on the ball. He played like a starter."

The Panthers had started the tournament with a 68-30 blasting of Wauconda in the opening night's second game.

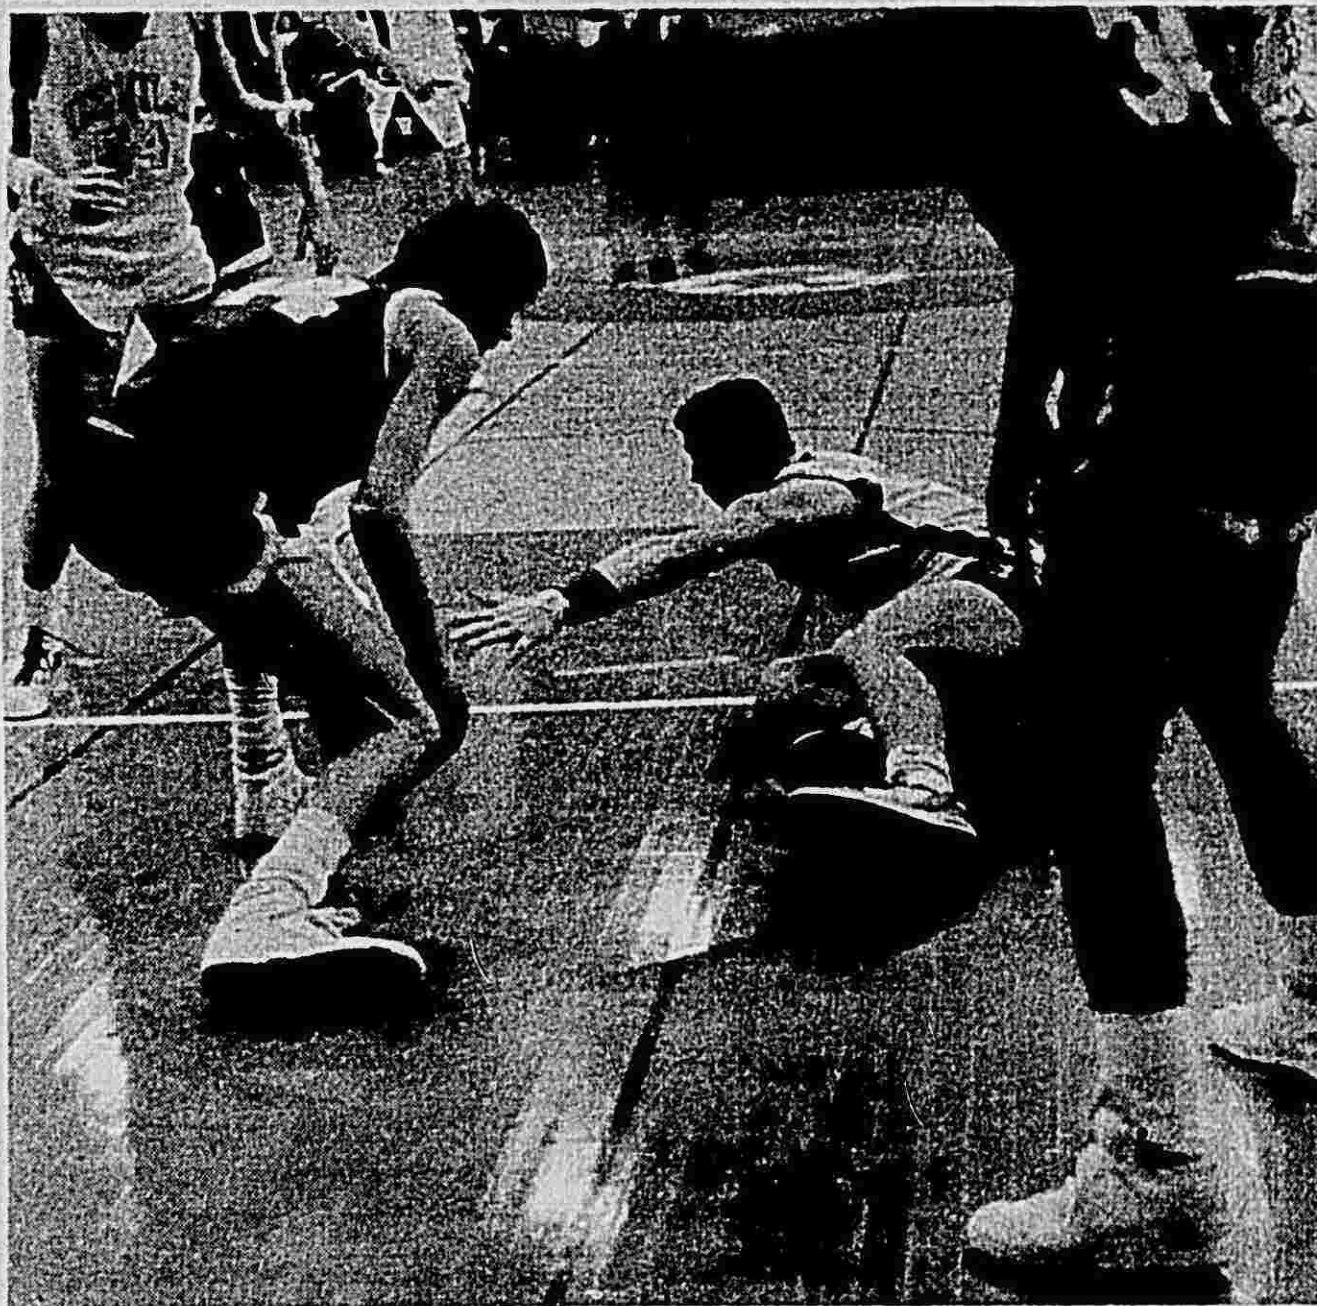

After a football-like opening, the Panthers fed the ball inside to 6-7 Richardson, taking a 15-8 lead after one quarter. The Panthers took control of the contest midway through the second stanza as Bills leaped in to tip home a missed shot, making it 27-16. The shorter Bulldogs made a variety of turnovers and trailed 33-16 at the half. The second half was again dominated by the host Panthers, who forced many errors en route to an opening season win.

The second contest for Round Lake was a well-played, evenly-matched contest between the host Panthers and Cary-Grove.

Antczak (12 points) made some early hoops as Round Lake built a 11-4 lead in a physical game. Trojan guard Ted Rohling (10 points) hit a long jumper at the buzzer to narrow the Panther lead to 16-10 after one quarter.

When Bills became more active (17 points to lead all scorers), Round Lake opened up a 30-19 lead. The Trojans kept coming back and the game swayed between a six and eight point Panther lead until Todd McDillon's shot cut it to 46-43. The visitors put strong pressure on Round Lake and trailed by only one after three quarters, 48-47.

Round Lake won the game in the final minute, making some clutch free throws to win 65-60.

Bankruptcy Does Not Mean Going Belly Up

While the very word "bankruptcy" causes both individuals and businesses to shudder, there is a lot more to bankruptcy than going "belly up," according to a Lake County attorney who specializes in bankruptcy law.

"In fact, we're even seeing 'bankruptcy' employed as a corporate strategy by financially healthy companies," said Michael L. Ralph, partner in the law firm of Richards, Ralph & Eiden, Chartered. Ralph was referring to the celebrated bankruptcies of Manville Corp. to obtain protection from creditors in various asbestos-related lawsuits and A. H. Robins to obtain similar protection in Dalkon Shield contraceptive-related legal actions.

"There is a lot of difference between a Chapter 7 and a Chapter 11 bankruptcy," he points out.

"In a Chapter 11, the debtor company continues to operate under the protection of the Bankruptcy Code," he said. "There is an effort to re-organize and rehabilitate the business under court scrutiny."

If efforts to re-organize fail, then the company might fall into a Chapter 7, he continued. This is the belly-up scenario—the company ceases operation and the assets are liquidated by a court-appointed official at a forced sale.

Unfortunately, according to Ralph, most businesses do not successfully emerge from a Chapter 11. "An average of two out of every three companies that file a Chapter 11 end up being liquidated instead of re-organized."

As for individuals there is a whole different set of rules, according to Ralph.

"Chapter 13 is the so-called 'wage earner plan,'" he said. "It's the individual's equivalent to a corporate re-organization. Here the wage earner submits a budget to the court which reflects regular steady income. The plan provides for continued payment of normal living expenses as well as retirement of prior outstanding debt over a three to five year period."

"The debt retirement formula is based on the value of the debtor's assets if he were liquidated today," Ralph continued.

"Let's take an example. Say our debtor has $10,000 in unsecured debt and the net liquidation value of his assets today is $5,000. Under a Chapter 13, he would be able to keep his assets, and pay out $5,000 plus interest to his creditors over the next five years."

If the debtor fails to comply with this plan, Ralph continued, it could revert to a Chapter 7 where all his assets are liquidated by a court-appointed official at forced sale.

Success Pays

Announce Special Farm Interest Rates

The Agriculture Department's Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) announced a special interest rate for farmers seeking emergency loans as a result of drought, flooding and other weather-related crop loss during calendar year 1986.

Effective immediately, qualifying farmers who file for such loans will receive an interest rate of 4.5 percent, according to Robert W. Chambers, FmHA State Director for Illinois. This replaces the regular two-tiered rate of five percent for loan amounts up to $100,000 and eight percent for the remainder up to the maximum of $500,000, applicable to prior loans.

"This will benefit the farmer in two ways," commented Chambers. "In addition to reducing the overall cost of repaying the loan, it will make it easier for the applicant to qualify for the loan in the first place under our cash flow requirements."

The action was taken in response to a provision in the omnibus Continuing (Appropriations) Resolution enacted by Congress just prior to its adjournment in October. The reductions represented by the uniform rate place interest on emergency loans on a par with interest charged on direct farm operating loans made to "limited resource" borrowers.

Chambers said the emergency loan funds can be used for restoration or replacement of damaged property, payment of production costs for the disaster year or the next year, payment of delinquent debt installments, living expenses, purchase of machinery, equipment and foundation livestock, reorganization of a farming system, and refinancing of short, intermediate or long-term debt.

He added that the applicant must meet regular eligibility requirements: be an established family farm operator, be a citizen or legal resident alien, have ability to repay the loan, be located in a designated county, have suffered a minimum 30 percent crop loss, be unable to obtain suitable credit elsewhere, and be able to provide adequate security.

United Way At 50 Percent

Bill Saxelby, vice-president/midwest area manager for American Scientific Products Inc. and 1986 campaign chairman for the United Way of Lake County, announced that the United Way of Lake County had reached $1,850,000 of its $3.6 million goal as of last week. The final report meeting date has been rescheduled from Nov. 21 to Dec. 4 to accommodate a number of late-running employee campaigns; the meeting will be held at the Mundelein Holiday Inn, 5 to 7 p.m.

In a related development, the Combined Federal Campaign—the annual charitable fund raising drive for federal employees, which is managed by the United Way—has reported that it has exceeded its $750,000 goal, and that contributions continue to come in.

Your Kids Have Friends In High Places.

When kids are scared or hurt, and there's no one else around, there ought to be someone nearby who cares. Well, we care. And we're often nearby.

So, in 1985, our 18,000 Commonwealth Edison employees became the E-Team.

The idea was to help kids like Jason Jerde, who suffered a head injury in a bicycle accident in DeKalb. Fortunately, lineman Mark Minnihan was working in the area. He radioed for an ambulance and stayed with the boy until it arrived.

Nothing extraordinary. Just a little care and concern.

But President Reagan didn't see it quite that way.

When he was told about the program, he awarded the E-Team a citation for finding innovative private solutions to public problems.

Talk about friends in high places.

TV THIS WEEK

'Anastasia' on NBC; vintage rock 'n' roll on PBS

By Wendy Wallace

Anna Anderson first drew public notice in a Berlin asylum when she claimed to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia of Russia, the only survivor of executioner's bullets that killed her parents, the czar and czarina of Russia. She became one of the great mysteries of the 20th century, and the story behind her claim is told in Anastasia: The Story of Anna (NBC, Dec. 7 and 8).

Amy Irving

Amy Irving headlines an all-star cast in the title role as Anna, who tells a strange story of her rescue as her memory comes and goes. She also bears the pain of rejection by her surviving grandmother (Olivia De Havilland), who has no desire to see one more "imitation" Anastasia, and the cynicism of the Grand Duke (Rex Harrison) who wants the throne for himself.

Stars from television, stage, motion pictures and the sports world display skill, courage and daring showmanship on The 11th Annual Circus of the Stars (CBS, Dec. 9). Performers, including Clifford Davis, Mary Hart, Lorenzo Lamas, Anita Morris, Jane Powell, Alfonso Ribeiro, Deborah Shelton, Dee Wallace Stone and Alan Thicke, temporarily become circus stars and risk their lives in acts ranging from working with wild animals to flying on trapezes to performing high-wire acts.

Don Johnson's upcoming single, "Streetwise," is the theme of the episode of Miami Vice airing Friday, Dec. 12, on NBC. The story involves Crockett (Johnson) and Tubbs (Philip Michael Thomas) as they attempt to salvage a future for two star-crossed lovers — a young prostitute and an undercover cop. But in return they require the couple's cooperation in finding the source of pure pharmaceutical cocaine used by a high-stepping dealer.

Rock 'n' roll is the big theme on PBS. Actor John Heard narrates Rock and Roll: The Early Days (Dec. 8), which features seldom-seen footage tracing the course of rock 'n' roll from its early days in the late 1940s to the rise of pop-oriented, teen-idol music in the late 1950s. The show includes performance clips of Elvis Presley, Chuck Berry, Buddy Holly, Little Richard, Jerry Lee Lewis and Fats Domino.

The second show, The Everly Brothers Rock 'n' Roll Reunion Concert (PBS, Dec. 9), presents the Everly Brothers in a performance before a star-studded audience at the Royal Albert Hall in London. It features such Everly Brothers favorites as "Bye, Bye Love," "Wake Up Little Suzie," "All I Have to Do Is Dream" and "Cathy's Clown."

CHIP To Help High-Risk Persons Avoid Public Aid

High risk persons who cannot qualify for conventional medical insurance could obtain coverage under a new state-backed plan which has been approved by the Illinois Senate, under co-sponsorship of Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion).

Called "CHIP" (Comprehensive Health Insurance Plan), the program is designed to provide insurance for persons who otherwise might have to quit their jobs and rely on Public

Aid in order to obtain medical services they require. Cost of the program would be covered by premiums and by state financing.

"This is a plan for persons who cannot qualify for insurance, through no fault of their own, because they are victims of such illnesses as diabetes and cancer," Sen. Geo-Karis said. "While they may be insured through employer coverage, they cannot move on to better paying positions because they wouldn't be able to obtain medical insurance."

Sen. Geo-Karis pointed out that high medical expenses are a leading cause of bankruptcy. "People use up all of their savings, and finally they go broke trying to pay their own hospital and doctor bills because they are considered high risk and cannot obtain insurance," she said. "Too many of these 'uninsurables' are having to leave their jobs and turn to public aid in order to obtain medical care. The plan would encourage these people to return to the work force and trim the welfare rolls."

CHIP programs are already in 10 states. The Illinois plan would cover hospital services, physicians' care, prescription drugs, some skilled nursing facility care, home health services, hospice care and some other expenses.

Sen. Geo-Karis said she expects the Illinois House of Representatives and Gov. James Thompson to approve the measure, which has the backing of some 150 organizations. It would take effect Jan. 1, 1988. Persons considered high risk because of existing or previous medical problems could enroll at rates 135 percent of conventional rates and would be covered for 80 percent of medical expenses, after a deductible is paid. Their total out-of-pocket expense per year would be limited to $1,500 per individual or $3,000 per family, plus the premiums.

"This is truly a program for the middle class, people who work and pay taxes and have every right to good medical care," Sen. Geo-Karis told Senate colleagues in floor debate on the issue. "The too poor can always get public assistance, and the too rich can pay their own bills."

CHIP would be operated by a board of directors consisting of representatives from the insurance industry, the Illinois Dept. of Insurance, the Illinois Health Care Cost Containment Council, the Attorney General's office and the general public. The board would choose an administering carrier to handle applications for insurance and to process claims. Expenses not covered by premiums would be paid by the state.

The Last Chance IRA?

Take Advantage of '86 IRA Tax Deductions

This year could be your "last chance" to receive maximum tax benefits on IRA contributions. According to the new tax laws, if you make over $40,000 annually and are covered by a company retirement plan, you will lose part or all of the tax deductions on future contributions. The right time to open an IRA is "right now" before the tax year ends, and the new laws are put into effect.

One of our IRA specialists can give you more details on the effect of tax reform on IRA contributions and can tell you about the many advantageous IRA plans available at Skokie Federal. Our high-earning 3, 5, and 7-year certicates are ideal IRA investments. All our rates are very competitive and are compounded daily for even greater yields. Your IRA certificates are insured by the FSLIC and can be opened with as little as $500. There are no front end fees or charges to pay.

Act now! For some tax-payers a full annual contribution of $2,000 before year-end could save up to $1,000 in current taxes (based on a 50% tax bracket.) Although the interest on all IRAs will continue to be tax-deferred, for many of you 1986 will be the last chance to take advantage of the immediate tax cut of an IRA contribution.

Chicago Medical School Offers Circulatory Help

Winter brings on its share of problems that are obvious. Some situations, however, are hard to plan for or tolerate. For example, otherwise normally healthy people experience circulation problems—freezing hands, feet, ears or extreme pain in the joints. Phlebitis (inflammation of a vein or veins) often becomes more chronic. Individuals who suffer from varicose veins or unsightly spider veins experience greater discomfort in colder weather.

Realizing this, and to combat these problems, the Robert R. McCormick University Clinics at the University of Health Sciences/The Chicago Medical School have opened a special clinic that deals specifically with people suffering from these types of difficulties. Under the direction of Dale Buchbinder, M.D. and David L. Rollins, M.D., the center provides comprehensive services for the diagnosis and treatment of patients with what they refer to as "venous diseases or problems." The center also provides an extremely modern noninvasive blood flow laboratory which, among other things, has state-of-the-art equipment that detects blood clots in veins; locates obstructions which may cause strokes; locates blockages in arteries; and measures blood flow in fingers and toes.

According to Sharon Weinstein, clinics administrator, the center which is staffed by board certified vascular surgeons and technologists, provides ultrasonic venography, outflow plethysmography and Doppler Ultra sound to deal with patients with varicose veins, cosmetic problems, ulceration of the veins, phlebitis and other vascular system difficulties.

Save The Reptiles

In West Germany and Switzerland tunnels are built under roads to provide amphibians and reptiles with safe passage.

Right Jewelry Can Accent An Already Festive Season

New jewelry designs rise to the occasion with bold colorful earrings, impressive cuff bracelets and imposing collars, bibs and necklaces, she reports.

"While you're doing your Christmas shopping, why not get a gift for yourself this Christmas," she suggests. What with the gala holidays ahead, and New Year's Eve in the offing, every woman needs jewelry accessories that echo the bright, colorful season.

New bead necklaces come in an array of strong color accents, and stone jewelry reflects the holiday glow. Impressive is the word for wide cuff bracelets, and longer, wider earrings. Big coat pins brighten holiday wear, and pearl jewelry, a perennial favorite, combines with beads and stones for eye appeal.

The pearl collar, four strands of pearls around the neck matched to a bracelet and with large baroque pearl earrings, makes an appealing fashion statement.

In this most flamboyant of seasons, every woman should indulge her feminine inclination toward the actress in her, and give in to her personal flair for the dramatic.

"You'll need something dramatic and daring to set off the bare necklines, bright colors and rich fabrics of new holiday wear," says Kae McCulloch, fashion consultant to the Jewelry-Industry Council.

Gifts, Costly But Nice

If taste is paramount, and money no object, then the holidays offer limitless opportunities for thoughtful giving. From caviar to luxury cruises, the modern Maecenas can bask expansively in the pleasure of sharing something special with someone close.

One might, for example, share the gift of a cruise for two to the Caribbean, Grand Cayman, Playa del Carmen and Cozumel. Rates range from $2,770 to $6,130.

Closer to home, an unusually appropriate luxury gift at holiday time would be a wicker picnic basket containing a kilo tin of imported Russian beluga caviar along with several bottles of Stolichnaya vodka, the only authentic Russian vodka available in the U.S., and available for about $11.50 per 750ml.

Slightly higher, a kilo of beluga caviar runs $900 or more, with a half-pound tin available for around $200.

Giving fine spirits at Christmas time has long been a tradition, both here and around the world. Probably one of the most luxurious of such liquor gifts for the holiday season would be a 750ml bottle of 30-year-old Scotch whiskey, the world's most expensive Scotch at around $100 a bottle, and a conversation stopper wherever served.

Other conversation stoppers could include exquisitely crafted Italian leather goods, like his and her crocodile billfolds, the "status accessory" of the year, selling for around $150 each.

Travelers will also appreciate the style statement and sophistication of hand-crafted Italian-made leather luggage. At about $850 for a matched three-piece set, this is truly a luxury gift.

And for the home, there's the ultimate high-tech audio/video system, featuring a contemporary, sleek, glossy black design, 26-inch flat, square screen tv monitor that can rest on the floor or on a glossy black and chrome stand. The system also includes a separate electronic tuner, hi-fi, VCR and speakers.

Available at a suggested $2,299 retail, the stereo model also offers "surround sound" capability by connecting additional speakers for true concert hall effect.

10 reasons why you should maintain and increase your newspaper advertising when business is slow.

1. Whether business is good or slow, you have to get your share of whatever business is around. Cutting back your advertising puts you at a disadvantage at the very moment when you need an edge. Increasing your advertising gives you the edge.

2. In times of uncertainty, consumers are careful and a little reluctant to spend. They want to be sure before they buy; they want information about products, services, prices and values. The best source is newspaper advertising. Yours—or somebody else's.

3. Maybe you figure other retailers in your line are going to cut back their advertising, so it's safe for you, too. Right? Wrong. You're in competition for the customer's dollar with very other retailer in town, no matter what he or she sells. People have only so many dollars to spend and if they don't spend them for what you sell they'll spend them for something else.

4. There are more people working now than ever before. More women working, too, adding to the family income. People still need and want goods and services and will spend for them. There is plenty of business out there. Your competitors will be bidding for their share—and yours.

5. You can't do much about most factors in the marketplace: rent, labor cost, price or merchandise, what the competition will do. But one thing you do control is your own promotion. Remember that newspaper advertising is not just a cost of doing business. It's a proven sales tool that returns many times your investment in store traffic and sales.

6. Remember how long it took you to get started? Once you build up a business, you can keep it going with a moderate, consistent advertising program. But if you cut your advertising and lose your hold on the public's awareness you'll find it's much harder to build it up again. It's sort of like starting all over.

7. Your advertising is part of your sales force. Newspaper ads help to pre-sell the customers and help you close the sale faster. What saves you time saves you money.

8. You say your customers know you and for a while at least they'll keep coming in even if you don't promote? That's partly true, but shortsighted. Remember, one out of five Americans moves every year. So there's a steady flow of your customers out of your market, and a corresponding influx of new folks who don't know you at all. Tell them about yourself.

9. Here's a hard fact to chew on. Over any given period, a business that advertises below the industry average has sales that are below the industry average.

10. Advertising is "news" — about products and services. Your customers look for this kind of news in the pages of Lakeland Newspapers. In plush times, retailers often experiment with other media. But when the going gets tough, they concentrate their efforts in the newspaper because it provides an immediate payoff at the cash register.

Governor's Task Force Releases Radon Report

The final report of a cabinet-level task force on radon appointed by Gov. James Thompson in June was released.

The report analyzes state efforts thus far to define the extent to which radon is a problem in Illinois, and recommends additional steps the state can take to address the public health impacts of the gas.

Radon is an odorless, colorless gas resulting from the decay of naturally occurring radioactive elements in the soil. Radon can accumulate in homes and increase the residents' exposure to radiation.

"I believe this report provides a comprehensive look at the problems posed by radon, as well as a number of options for both the state and private citizens to address these problems," said Terry Lash, director of the Illinois Dept. of Nuclear Safety (IDNS) and task force member.

The task force on radon was comprised of the directors of four agencies with responsibility for radioactive materials, public health and the environment.

In addition to Lash, the task force included Don Etchison, director of the Illinois Dept. of Energy and Natural Resources; Bernard Turnock, director of the Illinois Dept. of Public Health; and Richard Carlson, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Lash said one of the task force's recommendations is to continue agency programs currently in place to identify the extent of the radon problem in Illinois, particularly monitoring of homes on a statewide basis by IDNS.

The report also recommends establishing some new initiatives, such as possible use of the Cancer Registry being compiled by the Dept. of Public Health to target future monitoring activities, and studies by the State Geologic Survey to determine geological features which may indicate excessive radon levels.

Other recommendations address ways of increasing public awareness of radon and ensuring that unscrupulous or incompetent companies do not take advantage of public concerns about radon. For example, the report suggests testing and certifying companies that manufacture radon screening devices or offer to mitigate excessive radon levels.

IDNS has already established a special toll-free number for Illinois citizens to call for information on radon. The number is (800)225-1245, and health physicists are available to answer questions about radon and provide information, including vendors of radon screening devices that have demonstrated competence to the federal government.

In the past year, IDNS has started to monitor homes for radon, with results currently available for more than 500 homes. Eventually, the agency plans to monitor at least 3,500 homes on a statewide basis.

Lash said preliminary radon monitoring efforts have indicated that "radon is not the major public health threat in Illinois that it is in some other states."

The primary thrust of the state's initial monitoring activities is to quickly identify any problem areas, Lash said. Screening studies are being used to determine which neighborhoods or homes might require further study.

"High radon levels recorded on screening devices in a basement only means that more complete monitoring is necessary to take precise measurements and calculate radiation exposure," Lash said.

He added that simple, inexpensive steps, such as sealing foundation cracks and increasing ventilation, can be effective in reducing radon levels in many cases.

Other activities which the state has already undertaken are discussed in the task force report and include:

- investigating areas identified by U.S. Dept. of Energy aircraft, flying over Illinois using radiation detection instruments, as potential sources of elevated radon emissions;

- studying energy efficient homes with ENR to see if weatherization leads to higher radon levels;

- evaluating different types of inexpensive radon detection devices to determine reliability and the best monitoring procedures.

Great Parade!

The Antioch Christmas parade, sponsored by the Antioch Chamber of Commerce and the village of Antioch, was a huge success. People lined up the length of Main St. to get a glimpse at the carnival of colors and sights that greeted their gaze.

Sherry Waldroup, Miss Lindenhurst, showed up at the parade in a classy Corvette. A 1930 Model A Ford provided good contrast between the old and the new, as it rode down Main St. between all of the brand new cars.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars led the parade in style, as they were the first group in the parade that eager eyes could see. Several people took to clowning around in the parade, and Mayor Raymond Toft never looked better behind the wheel.

Public Aid Improves Dental Reimbursement

The Dept. of Public Aid and Delta Dental Plan have taken major steps to improve access to dental care for persons receiving Medicaid, Public Aid Director Gregory L. Coler said.

"On Oct. 1, the department increased the number of dental services available to Medicaid patients. And, we are increasing fees paid to dentists so that more dentists will serve state-paid patients," Coler said.

"This action exemplifies Delta Dental's and the State of Illinois' commitment to better dental care for those unable to pay for their own care," he said. "An increase in services, and adequate reimbursement for those services, both help bring about better care."

Effective Oct. 1, the state began providing bicuspid root canal treatment for children ages two through

20. On the same date, reimbursement levels were increased significantly for dental emergencies such as fractures, dislocations, and removal of cysts and neoplasm (oral cancer). Fees were also increased for space maintainers, restorative services (fillings, crowns, etc.), endodontic (root canals, etc.) and prosthodontic (dentures) treatment, and adjunctive general services (emergency treatment for dental pain, anesthesia, analgesia and consultations).

"These increases in services and rates were made possible by our commitment that any unused portion of the state's Medicaid dental dollars be directed back to dentists in Illinois," said Michael L. Berger, vice president, government programs division, Delta Dental Plans of Illinois. "We have always believed that to ensure quality care, we must work for increased reimbursements to dentists."

Berger said the fee and benefit increases followed extensive cooperative analysis between the Dept. of Public Aid, the Illinois State Dental Society, and the Chicago Dental Society.

Delta Dental has worked with the Dept. of Public Aid in administering the majority of the state's Medicaid dental programs since 1984. The program, through Delta, provides coverage to about 825,000 persons across the state.

"We are pleased that dentists and Medicaid patients will benefit from these fee increases," Coler said. "The increased reimbursements were made possible by Delta's efficient management of the program. We would like to thank all of those who contributed to this effort."

The Medicaid program provides free medical and dental care to those persons eligible to receive benefits. The rate of reimbursement is based on a fixed indemnity schedule established by the Dept. of Public Aid. According to state and federal laws, dentists providing treatment to a Medicaid-eligible patient for a covered benefit must accept the amount in the schedule as payment in full.

Delta Dental Plan of Illinois is headquartered at 7321 West Lake St., River Forest, 60305.

Recall The Day That Still Lives In Infamy

JOHN STEINKE
On December 7, 1941, the Japanese attacked America's key installation in Hawaii. It inflicted a crippling blow on the naval power of the United States in the Pacific. The enemy's secret training for "Operation Z" began in the fall of 1941 in Japan's Inland Sea. The Japanese learned the right bombing altitude and perfected the bombs to pierce armor-plated decks of U.S. battleships. They also developed the torpedoes and torpedo-borne tactics for Pearl Harbor's shallow waters.

Steinke On Politics

After weeks of training, the pilots were informed that their destination was Pearl Harbor. The orders were transmitted 10 days after the Kido Butai (strike force) left Hitokap Bay, the final rendezvous point in the Kurile Islands off northern Japan on Nov. 22, 1941.

As late as September, 1941, when the battle exercises had already begun, Admiral Isoroku Yamamoto expressed serious reservations about the prospects of military victory over the United States. Yamamoto was the commander-in-chief of the combined Japanese fleet, who planned the Pearl Harbor operation. He told a gathering of former schoolmates: "Japan cannot vanquish the United States." As Yamamoto saw it, there was only one slim chance for victory if war with the U.S. were to be pursued. A massive surprise attack on Pearl Harbor might inflict enough damage on the U.S. Pacific Fleet based there to win an early truce from Washington.

The Japanese armada consisted of eight destroyers, two battleships with 14-inch guns, three cruisers, and six carriers with 360 planes. There were 81 fighters, 135 dive bombers, and 40 torpedo bombers. Then Japanese war planes were launched from the carriers into a stiff wind, and climbed into the sky. It was dawn, Dec. 7, 1941, on that side of the International Dateline. In Japan, 3,200 miles west, it was shortly after midnight. The nation slept.

The first wave of torpedo planes, bombers and fighters flew toward Hawaii to the south. As the sun rose out of the ocean, the aerial attack force was on a mission that would be called infamous. Maintaining radio silence, they homed in on music from a Honolulu radio station. Within two hours—at 7:55 a.m. Hawaii time—the enemy warplanes crossed the coast north of Honolulu and Pearl Harbor, where the U.S. Pacific Fleet rode lazily at anchor on this quiet Sunday morning.

Japanese Mitsubishi Zero fighters and high-level bombers attacked U.S. fighters and hangers at Hickham Field. Mitsubishi Type 97 torpedo bombers raced at low level and in single file, toward the big ships moored in pairs along Ford Island's Battleship Row in the center of Pearl Harbor. Within an hour after the first wave of bombers struck, the U.S. fleet lay in ruins. Eighteen ships were sunk or damaged. Four of the eight battleships were lost. More than 200 aircraft had been destroyed or damaged, 2,409 Americans were killed, and thousands more wounded.

The Japanese had lost 29 aircraft and five midget submarines, with a total of 45 fliers and nine sailors killed. But, despite the destruction, they had failed to hit the most important targets of all: the American aircraft carriers, none of which were in port, and the oil storage tanks on Hawaii. Word that the attack had taken place, and that the element of surprise was achieved was radioed back to Tokyo. Vice Admiral Chuichi Nagumo's flagship, the carrier Akagi, communicated in code: "Tora, Tora, Tora" (Tiger, Tiger, Tiger.) Japan awoke to the news on Monday morning, Dec. 8, 1941, as the American fleet still blazed at its moorings.

This Sunday, Dec. 7, why don't you bow at the waist toward Pearl Harbor? This recommendation only applies to "Americans" who own Japanese cars.

Buy The Land!

Newly elected Dist. 5 County Board member Mike Graham suggested to residents attending a meeting at Libertyville's Twp. Hall to protest the county board's settlement with Heartland that they buy the land. Graham, who is also the Libertyville Twp. Supervisor, established a new precedent when he successfully spearheaded a drive to create an open space district in Libertyville Twp. Such a district allows people to 'buy the land' to prevent development.—Photo by Charles Johnston

PACE Begins Special Lake County Service

A special transportation service for the elderly and disabled in northwest Lake County began Dec. 1, announced Florence Boone, chairman of Pace, the suburban bus service.

The new pilot program, called the Northwest Lake County Special Service, will provide door-to-door transportation within the four-township area of northwest Lake County for persons who are at least 60 years old or have a physical disability that makes walking difficult.

The Special Service will use a unique combination of public and private transportation services to get northwest Lake County residents where they want to go. Pace will provide lift-equipped 15-passenger buses for use in the service. In addition, three local cab companies will participate in a subsidized taxi program.

"The new Special Service program will give elderly and disabled residents of northwest Lake County greater flexibility and convenience in travel," Boone said.

Taxi service will be provided by local cab companies. Residents should call the cab company up to 20 minutes in advance. The numbers for each area are:

Antioch Twp./Antioch: Antioch Cab Co., (312)395-0481, 6 a.m. to midnight;

Avon Twp./Lake Villa Twp.: Antioch Cab Co., (312)546-9095, 6 a.m. to midnight;

Grant Twp./Fox Lake: Fox Lake Yellow Cab, (312)587-2525, 4:30 a.m. to 11 p.m.; or Lake Region Cab, (312)587-7257, 4:30 a.m. to 11:30 p.m.

Passengers who take a taxi may receive a subsidy of up to half of the fare shown on the meter, up to a maximum subsidy of $8. In order to receive a taxi subsidy, residents must first obtain special coupons from the four township offices or the Fox Lake and Antioch village halls.

The Area Agency on Aging will help pay fares on both the bus and taxi for anyone who is unable to do so.

Anyone who wishes to use the new Northwest Lake County Special Service will be required to register and receive a new ID card. Registration sites are: Antioch, Avon, Grant and Lake Villa Twp. offices; the Antioch and Fox Lake village halls; Cedar Villa in Round Lake Beach; the Round Lake Senior Center in Round Lake Heights; Antioch Senior Center in Antioch; or Cedar Village, Lake Villa.

Pace receives funds from RTA.

Giving Tree Returns

Lakehurst Mall, in cooperation with Catholic Charities of Lake County presents the 1986 Community Giving Tree Project.

Shoppers are invited to select a "Wish Card" from the display at Lakehurst's Center Court. Each card details the Christmas Wish of a local person, children and adults, who need a little extra cheer this holiday season.

The hoped-for gift is then placed under the Giving Tree, to be distributed in late December by Catholic Charities.

The 1985 Giving Tree Project collected over 1,000 gifts from the patrons of Lakehurst Mall.

Frank Harge, general manager of the shopping center, noted "the generosity shown by the public in supporting last year's Giving Tree Project was a vivid reminder of the true meaning of the season."

THIS WEEK'S HOROSCOPE

Weekly Tip: Sow a kind word; reap blossoming friendships.
Aries (Mar. 21-Apr. 19) Wise Lambs ignore nagging naysayers who try to lambaste your efforts. Stick to what you know is right for you. Your efforts soon pay off.

Taurus (Apr. 20-May 20) It's a time for least resistance to changes that need to be made. Problems in adjusting soon ease up once intelligent explanations come through.

Gemini (May 21-June 20) Wind up as many outstanding business matters as you can before year's end. The fewer strings left dangling, the less chance of getting entangled.

Cancer (June 21-July 20) Romantically inclined moon children could be easily swayed by illusions. Much of what passes for substance is probably gossamer.

Leo (Jul. 21-Aug. 22) Leonine pride gets a nice polish as your efforts begin to be appreciated. Expect a welcome token of recognition as the gala season approaches.

Virgo (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) A major investment needs more time before it can begin to show the first glimmer of promise. Be patient. Follow up on unfinished business.

Libra (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) As the weather turns cooler your prospects become warmer. Expect to have some good news to share with kith and kin this holiday season.

Scorpio (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) A short discussion may be all that's necessary to clear up a murky situation. Why wait for the light to come on later when you can turn it on now.

Sagittarius (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) Speak out against an unwelcome intrusion in your life. Remember: allowing the pattern to continue makes it harder to break later on.

Capricorn (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your aspects indicate someone wants to know more about you: the object is to get to know you better for reasons that should please you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A chance for partnership shows great promise. Domestic situations take on more positive aspects. Pay attention to children.

Pisces (Feb. 19-Mar. 20) The fewer promises you make now the fewer you'll have to break later. Go easy on your enthusiasm. There's a lot more to know before you say yes.
